HANDCUFFED MEN BREAK INTO SONG MARCHING TO JAIL

Union Labor Men Loudly Sing, "Banks of the Shannon."

WOMEN AND CHILDREN CRY

Thirty-Three Out of 39 Given Pen Sentences---Some Guilty of Murder, Declared Judge Anderson.

Indianapolis, Ind., December 30.—The thirty-three union labor men burst into song this afternoon as they had been sentenced. At 4 o'clock the prisoners, shackled to deputy marshals, with Marshal Schmidt and Superintendent of Police Martin J. Hyland in the lead, stepped out of the federal building and on their march to the county jail, began to sing, "On the Banks of Shannon."

The singing continued, with crying women and children following the procession, almost until the jail was reached Every effort by the officials to stop the demonstration caused louder singing.

Ryan Downcast and Heartbroken.

The prisoners tonight prepared for their departure for Leavenworth, yet still unaware of just when they are to leave. The most downcast and heart-broken of them all was President Ryan, upon whom the hand of the court fell heaviest. Already a gray-headed man of almost 58 years, Ryan seemed instantly to become more aged when his sentence of seven years was pronounced. He declined to talk to anyone.

Ryan became the head of the iron workers' union seven years ago, succeeding Frank Buchanan, now a member of congress. By virtue of office in the union, Ryan later became second vice president of the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor. While his residence is Chicago, he seldom has been there on account of his travels about the country on union business.

HOW LABOR LEADERS HEARD THEIR DOOM

Indianapolis, Ind., December 30.—Imprisonment in the federal penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., today was imposed as punishment upon thirty-three labor union officials, convicted of having engaged in the destruction of property by dynamite over an area extending from Boston to Los Angeles.

A remarkable scene in the struggle of the wives of the prisoners to reach their husbands attended the passing of sentences. It was ordered that all spectators should be cleared from the room and the prisoners be allowed to talk with members of their families.

Some of the men made pleas for mercy; others wept in the arms of their wives.

But the court pronounced the sentences one by one regardless of the pleas.

Heaviest Sentence for Ryan.

Frank M. Ryan, president of the Ironworkers' International union, whose strike was given as the motive for promoting the dynamite plots, was sentenced to seven years' imprisonment, the heaviest punishment of all.

Of the thirty-eight men convicted as conspirators and aiders in the McNamara dynamiting schemes, eight—all affiliated with Ryan—were given prison terms of six years.

Two men each were given four years, twelve men each were given three years, four men each were given two years, six men each were given one year and one day, and six men including Edward Clark, Cincinnati, a dynamiter, who confessed, were allowed their liberty on suspended sentences.

HOLES IN PAVING ON PEACHTREE ST.

Newly Laid Paving Is Already Disintegrating.

Material Used Was the Same as That Rejected by Citizens on North Boulevard.

It seems only yesterday that residents of Peachtree street and citizens generally were rejoicing over the reopening of that thoroughfare to traffic after months and months of delay incident to the lowering of the grade. At last, they said, we can ride out home without going blocks out of the way or running the risk of death by being dumped into the street from a street car which was perched high in the air. Work on the street had been delayed for what seemed an age, but when the street was once reopened this delay was forgotten. The new pavement was smooth and shining as some dark ribbon and—well, the residents thought it would be a long, long time before they would have occasion to complain.

Therein they were wrong—dead wrong. From the present outlook it will be only a matter of days when the street will again have to be closed to traffic if the disintegration of the pavement keeps up at the rate that has begun.

Yawning Cavities Apear.

Near the Capital City club, directly in front of No. 253 Peachtree street, two yawning cavities have made their appearance within the past three days. The larger hole is approximately three feet square and about four inches deep. The smaller one is about two-thirds the area and depth of the larger. If the pavement keeps on disintegrating at this point at the rate it has begun someone is going to sink an automobile so deep that derricks will be required to hoist it out. The pavement of the street is of such poor material that one can scoop up handsful of it without half trying.

But the most startling part of the situation is yet to be told. It develops that the material used in laying the pavement is practically the same as that used on North Boulevard which G. M. Ingram, president of the Southern Bitulithic company, frankly admitted was of such inferior quality that he would not have used it had it not been specified by the construction department.

The material used on Peachtree street was furnished by the city and the work was done by the county. At the present rate of disintegration the new pavement will not last nearly so long as the old asphalt, which has been down for five or six years.

Repairs Will Be Made.

Superintendent of Construction Clayton stated to a Constitution reporter Monday afternoon that the paving at the spot near Harris street would be attended to immediately. He attributes the defect to settlement of the asphalt, due to probable sagging of sewerage pipes or conduits directly underneath.

The entire block of paving from Harris to Baker street on the eastern side has become bumpy.

The paving material used was purchased by the city from the Standard Oil company at an approximate cost of $1,200. A provoking amount of time was required in the work of excavation and construction. Had it not been for the timely campaign waged against this delay by The Constitution, progress, in all likelihood, would have been even slower.

The North Boulevard paving, it will be remembered, was faulty and so imperfect at many spots that it rapidly went to pieces. This material, admitted by contractors to have been unworthy, was of the same grade laid in the widened section of Peachtree, but of a different mixture. The North Boulevard paving is now being removed and work of replacing it with bitulithic material is in progress.

1,000 PAVING BLOCKS TO GO BY PARCELS POST

Gary, Ind., December 30.—One thousand concrete paving blocks, each in a separate stamped parcel, will be the first installment of parcels post mail to leave this city. Two big drays carrying the blocks, wrapped and addressed, backed up to the postoffice today, and the local postoffice force had to carry the 6,000 pounds of blocks into the office to have the stamps canceled. They were being sent out as samples by a manufacturer who found that he could transport them cheaper by parcels post than by express.

TO CHEAT ALLIES TURKEY APPEALS TO BIG POWERS

Mediation Is Ottoman Scheme for Saving Ottoman Face.

BALKAN STATES INDIGNANT

Ultimatum to Be Issued at Next Meeting of Conference, Which May End Peace Negotiations.

London, December 30.—A naval battle between Turkish and Greek forces occurred today off the Island of Tenedos, in which the Greeks suffered severe losses, according to a news agency dispatch received here tonight from Constantinople.

London, December 31.—The Times publishes the following dispatch from Belgrade:

"It is reported that the ministry of war has received a telegram stating that Scutari has fallen before a Servian attack."

London, December 30.—After a fortnight of sparring and feinting, Turkey has finally shown her hand in the peace conference. Mediation by the great powers is the Ottoman scheme for emerging from the war with the best face for the nation and for the plenipotentiaries, which the situation will permit.

The Turkish delegates proposed this solution in guarded terms at today's session. The meeting was brief and more strained than any which preceded it, and the Turkish tactics were characteristic.

Turkey Wants Powers to Mediate.

The delegation had received fresh instructions from the porte, Rechad Pasha announced, but part of the telegram was undecipherable and must be repeated to Constantinople for translation. Then Rechad Pasha came to the point to which the Ottomans had been leading up since the beginning, in the opinion of their opponents. He declared he was able to state that most of the questions under discussion should be referred to the powers. The boundary between Bulgaria and Turkey was an exception; that was a matter, he said, for direct settlement between the two governments.

Then the Turkish delegates attempted to discuss the questions at issue informally, but the allies insisted that they should put their propositions in writing, which, after a conference, the Turks said they were not prepared to do.

Allies to Issue Ultimatum.

The allies propose to bring affairs to a crisis by a statement in the nature of an ultimatum at the next session of the conference on Wednesday. They express the determination not to waste more time in waiting for telegraphic consultations, real or pretended, between Constantinople and Turkish delegates in London, and will meet at an early hour Wednesday to decide upon their policy.

Mediation has two advantages from the Turkish viewpoint. First, the tendency of such an arrangement always is in the direction of a compromise. In the second place mediation would save the Turkish government's prestige in the eyes of the people by making it appear that Turkey concedes the sacrifices which she inevitably must make, to the pressure of all Europe instead of at the dictation of the heretofore despised Balkan states.

The first consideration from the viewpoint of the allies is opposed to their interests. Suc.. a solution as mediation offers would be of further disadvantage to them in that certain powers—Austria and Italy—could not be considered as disinterested arbitrators.

Varying Degrees of Dissatisfaction.

In the camp of the allies, the proposal for mediation has been received with varying degrees of dissatisfaction. All are agreed that mediation would be possible of acceptance, only if the authority entrusted to the mediators was of such limits that it would be impossible to deprive the victors of conquests rightfully gained; that it must be mediation taking into account the present status of the belligerents, not the ante-bellum status, and, above all, that it must be mediation, not arbitration.

Servia and Montenegro are most dissatisfied of all, in the belief that it will be impossible to get impartial mediation by the powers, which include Austria, a nation which has shown in the past and is showing now such a threatening attitude against what these states assert is a legitimate aspiration.

The allies also fear Italian aspirations. Official Italy behaves toward Greece with reference to Avlona just as Austria does toward Servia and Montenegro with reference to northern Albania.

ADLAI STEVENSON, JR., KILLS 16-YEAR-OLD GIRL

Bloomington, Ill., December 30.—Adlai Stevenson, grandson of former Vice President Stevenson, accidentally shot and killed Miss Ruth Merwin, 16 years old, in the Stevenson home here tonight.

Some of the boys at a party at the home of young Stevenson's father, L. G. Stevenson, are students at a military academy, and during the evening decided to perform some of their drills. They found an old rifle, and, as they thought, took out all the cartridges. During the drill the weapon, while in the hands of young Stevenson, was discharged, the bullet striking Miss Merwin in the forehead, causing instant death.

PATRONAGE TALK MADE TO WILSON

J. Ham Lewis Discusses Illinois Senatorial Situation.

Lewis Thinks Patronage Promises Would Help---Underwood to Confer With Wilson Today.

Trenton, N. J., December 30.—President-elect Wilson manifested today keen interest in the possibility that the present scant majority which the democrats are calculated to have in the United States senate might be comfortably increased when the legislatures of a number of states convene next month.

Mr. Wilson conferred during the day at the statehouse here with J. Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, choice of the democratic primaries in Illinois for United States senator; and Senator Luke Lea, of Tennessee, on the senatorial situation and it is understood he will be informed in the near future by other democratic leaders in congress of what may be expected from the legislatures.

What Lewis Told Wilson.

Mr. Lewis told Mr. Wilson that there was a good chance of getting two democratic senators from Illinois, informing him that, while the newly-elected progressives hold the balance of power, he thought some among them would support the democratic choices on the theory that the state of Illinois had by a popular vote put itself on record for a Wilson administration. Mr. Lewis suggested to the president-elect that it might even "be openly understood that patriotic men who would give him the support of two senators would be regarded as worthy of proper reward and recognition in the distribution of minority patronage."

The president-elect remarked tonight that he had absolutely no comment to make on this proposal.

The Philippine Situation.

That the Philippine situation is receiving prominent consideration by the president-elect in his preparations to carry out the democratic platform pledges was indicated by his conferenc today with Representative William C. Redfield, of Brooklyn. The governor said he had arranged to meet Mr. Redfield because the latter had been in the Philippines and knew conditions there.

"I wanted to get from him as much information as possible,' said Mr. Wilson; "and what he told me was very interesting and valuable, indeed."

Senators Chamberlain, of Oregon, and Williams, of Mississippi, in their talks with the governor today, urged the appointment to the cabinet of men from their respective states.

Representative J. W. Slayden, of Texas, ranking member of the military affairs committee of the house, came to Trenton, the governor said, to inform him about changes that the army reorganization bill would entail.

Representative Underwood is the principal visitor on the governor's list tomorrow. His engagement is for 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

UNDERWOOD TO TALK TARIFF AT THE WILSON CONFERENCE

Washington, December 30.—The visit of Oscar W. Underwood, democratic leader of the house, to President-elect Wilson at Princeton tomorrow is expected to result in a general understanding by the incoming democratic executive and the democratic organization of the house as to the early plans for tariff hearings and tariff revision.

Mr. Underwood has conferred at length with his colleagues on the ways and means committee, of which he is chairman, and with a majority of the democratic members of the house. He is prepared to outline to Governor Wilson the general scheme of revision as it will be offered to the new congress when the extra session convenes next spring.

It is understood no effort will be made to reach an agreement for a specific basis of new tariff rates, or to outline exactly what will be done with each schedule of the big law. The democratic leaders intend to give consumers and producers the opportunity to present their view during January, and to prepare the tariff revision bills after these views have been considered.

SPECIAL OFFER GOOD ONE WEEK

M. & M. Contestants Must Bear Two Things in Mind.

There are two things that the participants in The Constitution's M. & M. contest should bear in mind just now.

The first of these is that the bonus votes offer for special label combinations is good for this week and for this week only. This feature ends January 4, so that if you do not avail yourself now of the advantages it offers you it will be too late, and the loss will be yours.

The rules governing this special bonus votes offer have already been made clear through the columns of The Constitution, but if you should desire further information, you will be able to get it by applying at the contest office, on the second floor of The Constitution building.

The second of these is that such sale slips as may be saved for you or any one else by clerks in the stores whose products are good in the contest will not be available for the purpose of securing votes, as the contest department will not accept them. In the first place, they are not votes which are justly due you, and, in the second place, they are votes which are due some one else. Be sure and see that you get your sale slips every time you make a purchase. This is an iron-bound rule.

AUTOMATIC SCALES TO BE USED FOR PARCELS POST PACKAGES

Peter V. DeGraw, fourth assistant postmaster general, who is in charge of the arrangements for starting the parcel post January 1, has distributed thousands of new scales in the larger offices where the business is expected to be the heaviest. The scales are of the type used in many butcher shops, with an indicator that shows at a glance the weight of the package, and by looking down the indicator the rate of postage for each zone is seen. A mirror is above the dial so arranged that it can be adjusted to throw the light directly on the indicator. While any scales can be used, a calculation will be necessary on a reference to a table unless the scales are fitted with the new parcel post dial.

REFORMS IN ATLANTA GOVERNMENT SUGGESTED BY HERBERT R. SANDS

Provide a simpler form of government.
Give the mayor more administrative power.
Establish police substations over the city.
Abolish the police board and the park board.
Consolidate the city and county governments.
Destroy confiscated revolvers. Don't auction them.
Revolutionize the poor system of street inspection.
Abolish the smoke nuisance—it's a bad advertisement.
Give more publicity to the making of the annual budget.
Get more "snap" in the members of the police department.
Regulate automobile parking in the narrow downtown district.
Make the chief of construction an appointive officer; not elective.
Abolish the grade crossings on the railroad tracks entering the city.
Forbid the fencing off of the street by contractors building houses.
Decrease the city water rate—the department is making too much money.
Make the annual reports of the different departments more complete.
Collect the taxes semi-annually, instead of in three installments.
Put the electric wires underground now, when it would cost little.
Use combination poles, for street lights and trolley wires, at least.
Make the police take "setting up exercises" to give them a soldierly bearing.
Have more street signs over the city, so that residents and visitors won't get lost.
Demand an automobile license fee, ranging from $10 to $25, to provide funds for road improvement.
Standardize the salaries of city employees in all departments, according to their actual duties.
Construct "safety islands," six or eight inches high, in the center of some of the most dense street crossings.

ALBANY DOCTOR ASKS FOR SERUM

Three Cases of Meningitis Reported by Dr. Agnew Hilsman.

Albany, Ga., December 30.—Two authentic cases of cerebro-spinal meningitis have developed within the last few days. A quarantine is being rigidly enforced, however, and I do not apprehend a general outbreak.

DR. A. H. HILSMAN.

A mild cerebro-spinal meningitis epidemic has appeared in Albany, Ga., according to reports received by Dr. H. F. Harris, secretary of the state board of health, on Monday.

Dr. Agnew Hilsman, of Albany, telegraphed to Dr. Harris that he had discovered three cases which he felt reasonably sure were meningitis and asked that the board of health supply him with the necessary serum with which to fight the disease. The serum has been sent.

Should it prove to be true that these are really cases of meningitis in Albany, Dr. Harris says that this will form an entirely new outbreak and will, so far as he can see, have no connection whatever with the recent outbreak in Burke county.

While the epidemic of cerebro-spinal meningitis in Burke, which spread into Jenkins county, it is said, is apparently fairly well under control, two deaths have resulted and one new case has developed since last Friday, according to reports which have been received by Dr. Harris. Dr. R. E. Park, of the state board of health, is in charge.

There are apparently no cases of meningitis in Millen, which is in Jenkins county, as was at first reported, but there were two deaths from meningitis in the county Saturday. These cases, says Dr. Park, were those of people who had moved or taken refuge in Jenkins county when the outbreak of the epidemic occurred in Burke county, near Midville.

A strict quarantine is being enforced in Millen against Burke county and the infected district of Jenkins.

A new case has been reported on the Hickson place, near Midville, which is said to have been the location of the original outbreak.

ANOTHER RESERVE IN NORTH GEORGIA

Tract of 175,000 Acres Now Under Consideration by Forestry Service.

(By John Corrigan, Jr.)

Washington, December 30.—(Special.)—Another big forest reserve in north Georgia is indicated by the statements made today by Representative Hawley, of Oregon, on his return from a tour of inspection in the northwestern corner of the state.

Part of the tract of 175,000 acres now under consideration lies in Georgia, part in South Carolina and part in North Carolina. The average price asked is from $4 to $4.50 an acre, though some of the heavily timbered lots are higher.

Mr. Hawley was accompanied by Mr. Ashe, of the forest service, which must also approve the purchase.

Through the activity of Gordon Lee, a member of the national forest reservation commission, the first tract purchased was the Gennett tract in north Georgia. Some day this property will be made into a pleasure resort for the people of the state.

BOY, AGED 7, KILLS BROTHER, AGED 10

Little Fellow Thought That His Uncle's Revolver Was a Toy Pistol.

Rome, Ga., December 30.—(Special.) Thinking his uncle's revolver was the toy pistol with which he and his brother had been playing a short while before, Luke Lamb, aged 7, shot and killed his brother, Albert Lamb, aged 10, tonight at the home of their uncle, J. T. Sessler, on Avenue A. The ball entered the nostril and penetrated the head. The widowed mother of the boys is prostrated with grief.

LONG, CLEAN SHEETS WANTED BY DRUMMERS

Chicago, December 30.—Clean sheets long enough to cover a tall man from head to foot, clean hotel rooms and the privilege of voting by mail were demanded in resolutions passed by the National Association of Traveling Men at their annual banquet here tonight. Giving of tips to hotel servants and others was favored by speakers. Joshua N. Hobbs, of Meridian, Miss., was elected a director.

SANDS TELLS HOW CITY GOVERNMENT MAY BE BETTERED

Revolutionary Reforms Proposed by "Civic Doctor."

WANTS BOARDS ABOLISHED

Radical Changes Are Advised in the Work of the Police Department. Lower Water Rate Favored.

Revolutionary reforms in the city government of Atlanta were proposed in the report submitted to the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce Monday by Herbert L. Sands, municipal government expert of the New York bureau of municipal research.

He called for the abolition of the park, police and other boards; the consolidation of the city and the county governments; radical changes in the work of the police department; standardization of city employees' salaries; a decrease in the water rate; the elimination of grade crossings; the improvement of street conditions, and remedies for many other evils which the "civic doctor" observed in his study of conditions throughout the city of Atlanta.

Printed in a neat pamphlet of 64 pages, the report is ready for distribution to all who are interested. The opportunity has thus been provided by Atlanta's chamber of commerce for the citizens of this city to see themselves, through the eyes of an outsider, a real student of conditions. The funds for this preliminary study by Mr. Sands were raised by the chamber's committee on municipal research, headed by Colonel Frederic J. Paxon, and through a sub-committee of which John E. Murphy was chairman. The report includes every department in the city government except the health and educational departments.

Sands' Mission to Atlanta.

"Our mission in Atlanta was to point out the places where the present structure is weak and where present methods are defective, and to suggest ways and means whereby such weaknesses and defects might be remedied," says Mr. Sands in his letter to Colonel Paxon transmitting the report.

The information contained in the report is summarized into sections and sub-sections, so that any feature can easily be found at any time. The reforms proposed deal with the construction, park, police, fire, water and sanitary departments, inspection of buildings, inspection of weights and measures, inspection of licenses, comptroller's office, budget methods, the passing of ordinances, purchasing supplies and materials, payment of claims, bank deposits and treasurer's balances, bonded debt and the assessing and collecting of taxes.

Following is a condensed summary of the report, which follows in part the detailed summary given in the first twenty pages of the pamphlet:

Section 1. Defective conditions easily corrected by slight improvement in administration.

Construction Department.

Many thousands of dollars might be saved annually if the city, when building pavements, would adapt the thickness of the pavement to the stresses it will be required to bear.

Sewer specifications have been so indefinite that neither the city's nor the contractors' interests were protected.

LIST OF UNION MEN SENTENCED AND LENGTH OF THEIR TERMS

Indianapolis, Ind., December 30.—The union leaders sentenced today by United States Judge Anderson and their terms follow:

SEVEN YEARS—Frank M. Ryan, Chicago, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

SIX YEARS—Olaf A. Tveitmoe, San Francisco, secretary of the California Building Trades council; Herbert S. Hockin, former secretary of the iron workers' union, and formerly of Detroit; John T. Butler, Buffalo, vice president of the union; Eugene A. Clancy, San Francisco; J. E. Munsey, Salt Lake City, Utah; Philip A. Cooley, New Orleans; Frank C. Webb, New York; Michael J. Young, Boston.

FOUR YEARS—John H. Barry, St. Louis; Peter J. Smith, Cleveland.

THREE YEARS—Charles N. Beum, Minneapolis; Henry W. Leiglelitner, Denver; Ernest G. W. Basey, Indianapolis; Edward Smythe, Peoria, Ill., William E. Reddin, Milwaukee; Murray L. Pennell, Springfield, Ill.; Paul J. Morrin, St. Louis; William J. McCain, Kansas City, Mo.; Michael J. Hannon, Scranton, Pa.; George (Napper) Anderson, Cleveland; Wilford Bert Brown, Kansas City, Mo.; Michael J. Cunnane, Philadelphia.

TWO YEARS—Frank J. Higgins, Boston; William K. Painter, Omaha; Fred Sherman, Indianapolis; Richard J. Houlihan, Chicago.

ONE YEAR AND ONE DAY—William C. Bernhardt, Cincinnati; Charles J. Wachtmeister, Detroit; William Shupe, Chicago; James E. Ray, Peoria, Ill; Edward E. Phillips, Syracuse, N. Y.; Fred Mooney, Duluth, Minn.

SUSPENDED SENTENCES—Patrick F. Farrell, New York; James Cooney, Chicago; James Coughlin, Chicago; Hiram H. Kline, Muncie, Ind., former organizer for the Carpenters' union in Detroit; Frank J. Murphy, Detroit; Edward Clark, Cincinnati, confessed dynamiter, who testified for the government.

has been extremely poor—particularly of repairs.

Streets have been torn up for several blocks and allowed to remain long in an incompleted condition.

Approval of further changes in grades of streets, unless urgently required, should await the development of plans of the newly appointed Atlanta city plan commission.

Owing to the location of the department's stables at one side of town, there is a tremendous loss of time and also of team energy in going to and returning from places of work.

The efficiency of city convict gangs is much less than that of the county gangs.

The department has kept no records showing unit costs on any repair work or on construction work done by departmental labor, nor have any records been kept showing efficiency of employees.

No printed annual report has been issued by the department for several years. A report should be issued annually.

The physical arrangement of the department's offices is not conducive to efficiency.

Park Department.

All city parks should be well lighted and policed, particularly during the first half of the night and during the warmer months.

Adequate cost records have not been maintained.

After insufficient advertising the board let park privileges on a six-year contract. This is too long a period, because at the end of two or three years the privilege may have become twice as valuable.

Police Department.

Complete efficiency records should be maintained currently of every man in the department.

Greater endeavor should be made to inform the fore relative to men and property wanted.

Fingerprint equipment and a fingerprint operator should be provided.

Card records which relate to prisoners about to be arraigned should be sent up to court for the information of the recorder when determining sentence.

The uniformed force does not have a soldierly bearing. At the time men join the force they should be given "setting up" exercises.

The traffic squad should be further instructed in traffic regulation and be equipped with whistles.

The annual reports of the department should be improved.

Fire Department.

Each member of the department should be furnished with a book of the department's rules.

There are no published reports of the work of the fire inspector.

While the department appears to have been fortunate thus far in its purchase of horses without a guarantee period the city's interests would be better protected if horses were purchased subject to a ten or thirty-day trial.

Water Department.

If meters were read and collections made only quarterly instead of monthly, as at present, all of the reasons which make frequent reading desirable would be complied with.

The present accounting system, while satisfactory in most respects, causes some confusion by permitting duplicate payments.

No statements are available showing a comparison of the quantity of water pumped with the total quantity consumed as indicated by the meter readings.

Sanitary Department.

To secure cleaner streets an intensive study should be made of the kinds and conditions of streets, kinds of tools used, work methods and organization of the department.

The day patrol system as operated at present stirs up a great deal of dust and should be supplemented by sprinkling.

Streets which have a disintegrating pavement should be oiled.

Careful inquiry should be made relative to the feasibility of generating electricity in the new crematory.

The department maintains no efficiency or unit cost records whatever. There are not even any records showing areas cleaned each day nor quantity of garbage consumed in the crematory.

Inspection of Buildings.

There is no record showing the name of the inspector making any particular inspection. A rule should be promulgated at once that each inspector turn in a signed report of each inspection.

The files contain the records of several thousand buildings, the construction of which has been approved and the owners of which are therefore entitled to special discounts by fire insurance underwriters. Endeavor should be made to notify the owners of these buildings so that they may have the benefit of the reduced insurance premiums.

Comptroller's Office.

There is no uniformity of pay rolls. Moreover the certificates on payment vouchers for contracts and open market orders are also wholly inadequate.

The comptroller has no accounting control over any of the financial stationery used by the city.

A large amount of clerical labor is wasted in posting what is known as the police docket. A plan for obviating this work is described on page 48 of this report.

The only system which enables a city readily to ascertain its exact financial condition at any time comprehends the setting up as liabilities against appropriations and bond funds, of all contracts and open market orders at the time they are consummated or issued. By a slight amplification the present accounting system of Atlanta may be put upon that kind of a basis.

Budget Methods.

The making of the annual budget is the most important governmental event of the year to the citizens of Atlanta, and yet all of the work in connection therewith has been done secretively. Although budget-making is public business, the public has known absolutely nothing of what was going on. Large numbers of citizens are conversant with the community needs and are ardently desirous of bettering existing conditions.

Passing Ordinances.

It is customary to pass ordinances on their second reading at the same meeting at which they are introduced, notwithstanding the fact that there is a charter provision evidently intended to prevent just such a custom. It is a dangerous policy, and should be abandoned.

The proceeedings of council should be printed in pamphlet form immediately after each meeting, making them currently available to council members, city officials and those of the general public who may be sufficiently interested to ask for copies.

Purchasing Supplies and Materials.

At the present time a large proportion of the city's purchases are made with little regard for the kind, grade, style, etc., of equipment, supplies and materials. To buy efficiently and economically everything should be described in specifications and all specifications should be standardized.

Supplementary to standardization of specifications and centralization of purchasing power, the needs of all departments should as far as possible be anticipated a year in advance, and contracts let for quantities to last the entire period.

Bank Deposits and Treasurer's Balances.

The city receives only 2 per cent interest on its deposits in bank. It is probable that the comptroller might arrange to make time deposits for a definite number of months so that a higher rate of interest might be secured.

The city treasurer has on hand at all times an amount averaging over $50,000 and on which no interest whatever is received. This money should earn at least 2 per cent on daily balances.

Collecting Taxes.

A system of pre-billing all three tax installments should be designed and adopted. Such a system would do away with all congestion in the tax office caused by taxpayers waiting to pay their taxes, and would be much less susceptible of error.

To facilitate payment of taxes, the cages in the assessor's office and tax collector's offices should be rearranged or a carrier system installed.

Section two deals with defective conditions easily corrected without reorganization, but requiring ordinance authority.

In the police department is recommended that the rule be removed which bars from the ranks of detectives men who have not served as policemen. In the fire department appointment of all employees by competitive examinations is suggested. Recommendations are also made for the construction department, the comptroller's office, the bonded debt and bank deposits.

Reorganization Proposed.

Sections three and four go into detail over the needs of the government in fundamental changes. The boards of the park, police, fire and water departments are pronounced unwieldy, while each department has an executive head who ought to have more power and bear the responsibility of efficient management.

Section five calls attention to the reforms most needing increased appropriations—pavement work, park boulevards, at least two more police stationhouses and a complete and correct tax map of the city.

Section six outlines the opportunities confronting Atlanta's city government, such as a combination with the county government, the standardization of all salaries of municipal employees, the consolidation of the city repair shops, the abolishing of the smoke nuisance, the development of the city's parks and the establishment of a park for negroes, the erection of safety islands on heavy traffic streets, the abolishing of grade crossings and overhead wires, the erection of more street signs and the regulation of auto parking in the heart of the city.

Municipal Research Bureau.

The last section advocates the establishment at once by the citizens of Atlanta of a bureau of municipal research to co-operate and assist the local governments, both city and county, in doing the same kind of constructive work which has been done in New York city, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cincinnati and other cities with the aid of similar bureaus.

COUNTRYSIDE URGES EARLY KING TRIAL

Mrs. King Supplements Murder Confession With New Details of Plot.

Macon, Ga., December 30.—(Special.) Petitions were placed in circulation in Jones county today calling on Judge Parks to call a special term of court to try Mrs. Kate King and Nick Wilburn for the murder of Jim King, the woman's husband.

The first petition made its appearance at Hillsboro, and few persons failed to sign it. Another will be put out today at Round Oak, the home of the Kings, and others will be started throughout the country.

The relatives of King declare that nothing but an early trial will satisfy them, and Mrs. King herself declares that she wants to get it over with as quickly as possible.

Supplemental Confession Made.

Mrs. King made a suppemental confession today in which she said she herself once tried to poison her husband by placing morphine in a dose of medicine, but that Mr. King did not get enough of it to hurt him. She also said that Nick Wilburn had carried her pistol for a month before he killed King, and that he also had one belonging to his brother, Frank Wilburn. His plan was to kill King with Frank Wilburn's pistol and then place Mrs. King's pistol in his hand, so that it would appear like a case of suicide.

The imprisoned woman is practically deserted by all friends and relatives. She spends her hours alone in the little Jones county jail, and except for the kindness of the sheriff and his family, she is without attention.

Father Plans Wilburn's Defense.

Wilburn is sullen, and has little to say now. His aged father has already taken steps to have his son defended, despite the fact that the crime well-nigh broke the aged man's heart.

Nothing has been done, so far as known, to provide Mrs. King with counsel. A conference of the family held Monday decided on no definite steps. A peculiar fact is that Mrs. King has asked several times about the insurance money, $2,000, which formed one of the motives for the deed. It is possible the policy may not be paid, owing to the murder, though the court may be required to settle this.

ANDERSON'S FIREMAN PREACHES HIS FUNERAL

When the body of Frank Pierce Anderson, the Western and Atlantic engineer who died at a local sanitarium Saturday, is ready to be lowered into its last resting place Monday at McDonough, Ga., the funeral sermon will be preached by a fellow toiler of former years, a man who stood by his side in the locomotive and shoveled coal for him on his very first run.

He is T. H. Harrison, formerly of Atlanta, now of Nashville, Tenn., known as "the engineer preacher." Harrison was fireman on the first engine that Anderson ran after he became engineer for the Western and Atlantic. That was away back in the 90's. Since then Harrison himself has become an engineer, and within the past few years has given it up to assume the calling closer to his heart—the ministry.

Pierce Anderson was 58 years old, and lived at 93 West Cain street. He is survived by his wife and one son. He also leaves one brother, R. L. Anderson, of Dalton, and five sisters. The body will be taken Tuesday morning to Mr. Anderson's old home, McDonough, and the funeral services will take place there at 11 o'clock.

Before returning to Nashville, Mr. Harrison will preach a sermon at midnight services held in the Western and Atlantic shops Tuesday night, when a large gathering will watch the old year out. Mr. Harrison spoke Sunday night at the First Presbyterian church in Atlanta.

SIGMA NUS PLAN FOR NEW HOMES

More Extensive System of Frat House Ownership Favored.

Three hundred and twenty-eight delegates, representing nearly every state in the union, made the lobby of the Piedmont as busy as a beehive all day Monday, when the biennial grand chapter of the Sigma Nu fraternity began its three-day session. With speeches of welcome by prominent Atlantans, and responses by well-known Sigma Nus, the opening session was taken up, and at the Monday afternoon session the delegates settled down to a strictly business meeting.

Summarizing the work and progress of the past two years, each of the officers of the national Sigma Nu organization made a report at this meeting. S. F. Pegues, of Chicago, grand treasurer, made a report on the excellent financial condition of the fraternity. Grand Regent A. H. Wilson, of New York city, told of the work of the grand chapter in keeping in touch with all the college chapters. Clarence E. Woods, of Eustace, Fla., grand recorder; Walter J. Sears, of Columbus, Ohio, historian, and Robert J. Bannister, of Des Moines, grand counselor, also made official reports.

To Own More Frat Houses.

With the preliminary report made by H. E. Sibson, of Philadelphia, who is chairman of a committee on frat houses, a movement was started for an extended system of frat house ownership. A proposition was discussed by which the grand chapter will be able to materially aid the individual chapters by furnishing funds for the purchasing of the houses. After long experience with both systems, the fraternity officers have found out that the fraternity house is much more of a real home for the college man when it is owned by the fraternity. Comparatively few are owned by the chapters in southern universities, while in the north it is more general.

Mr. Sibson will make a detailed report at Tuesday's session of the convention, giving statistics as to the ownership of frat houses, and the report is being looked forward to with great interest by the delegates.

At the morning session Monday, speeches of welcome were made by Governor-elect John M. Slaton, Mayor Pro Tem. John S. Candler and Robert C. Alston. Oscar Palmour, president of the Atlanta Alumni association, and E. Lee Worsham, state entomologist, introduced the welcoming speakers. Clarence E. Woods, grand recorder, made reply to the addresses in behalf of the delegates.

San Francisco Boosters.

Principal among the bidders for the next convention of the Sigma Nu grand chapter are the delegates from San Francisco, Cal. While Birmingham has put in a word or two, the California men are shouting loud and strong, and it is generally believed that San Francisco will win.

While the regular date for the next meet would be two years from this time—December, 1914—it has been proposed that the gathering be postponed until the early part of the summer of 1915, in order that it may be held in San Francisco at the time of the World's Panama exposition.

Tuesday and Wednesday the convention will have two business sessions, at 10 o'clock in the morning and 2 in the afternoon. Tuesday night the delegates will gather at a theater party at the Atlanta theater to see Mizzi Hajos play "The Spring Maid." They have engaged all the boxes and the ground floor for this performance. The closing event of the Atlanta convention will be the grand fraternity dance given Wednesday evening at the Capital City club.

One hundred and twenty-five young ladies of Atlanta's social set have already accepted invitations to the dance. It is expected that there will be nearly 300 Sigma Nus present. One from each of the other fraternities at representative has also been invited Tech. With this brilliant event the convention will come to a close.

Sigma Nus Enjoy Banquet.

Gathered nearly four hundred strong in the banquet hall at the Piedmont hotel, which was draped in Sigma Nu colors and bright with its pennants, the visitors and delegates to the grand council held the most successful banquet last night in the history of the fraternity.

The enthusiasm and spirit of joyous college youth made the occasion one full of life and interest from the start, at 8 o'clock, until the last diner left the hall, far after midnight.

During the menu a constant rattle of college yells kept things lively, as students from colleges from Oregon to Maine and from Texas to Georgia gave their college yell.

A cabaret entertainment made the occasion more enjoyable, and when the paid performers left a college youth who could bring real Sigma Nu airs and tunes from the piano took the place of the leader, and, assisted by half a score of good voices, rendered an impromptu entertainment that was even more enjoyable.

The spirit of the fraternity was shown in a number of excellent speeches by various members of the order, who were introduced by E. Lee Worsham, state entomologist, the toastmaster.

In his introductory speech Mr. Worsham paid a high tribute to the work of the college fraternity in healing the wounds of the nation made by the civil war, and its present work in bringing the different sections together in one spirit.

Other speakers who were called upon, and who told of activities of the fraternity, were Rev. Albert H. Wilson, of New York city; Clarence E. Woods, of Deland, Fla.; John W. Bull, of Nashville; Thomas H. Pickles, of Richmond, Ky.; J. L. Houston, of Oregon; B. H. Burr of Birmingham, and Jerome Wideman, of Stetson university, Deland, Fla., representing a club in that college which is petitioning to be admitted to Sigma Nu.

The direct route from brain to type

Six mental operations are necessary to dispatch a business letter under your present system: first the dictation; second, writing the shorthand notes; third, repetition for the stenographer; fourth, reading the notes in transcription; fifth, typewriting; sixth, reading by the dictator for errors.

With the Edison Dictating Machine you eliminate the second, third and fourth operations, and minimize the sixth. You operate direct from brain to type. Your letters are shorter, crisper and more personal—and they are produced at half the cost of production by the shorthand method.

We will gladly make a demonstration in your own office on your own work. Our book, "The Goose, the Typewriter and the Wizard," free on request.

The EDISON Dictating Machine

is readily accessible. All small adjustments, such as the change of a belt, recorder or reproducer, can be easily made by the user. This saves time and money.

Be Sure You Get A Pure Leather Shoe

You'll find it in "Star Brand" Shoes

This Star on Every Heel

As a result of the increasing cost of leather, more than 90% of all the shoes made in the United States contain substitutes for leather.

The manufacturer can save five to thirty cents per pair by using leatherboard heels, paper counters and pate inner-soles. These substitutes are hidden where you cannot see them.

Why pay pure leather prices for such shoes when you never know they are adulterated until you wear them and find them unsatisfactory?

But there is one way to be sure you are getting an honest leather shoe. Simply ask for "Star Brand" shoes with our star on the heel and our name on the sole.

"Star Brand" is the largest selling line of shoes in the world. Over seven million pairs sold during 1912. Every pair is honestly made of good leather. No substitutes for leather are ever used.

The production of shoes in such large volume enables us to effect every known economy. We are selling shoes for less than it costs the average manufacturer to make them.

"Star Brand" shoes are made in over 750 styles—in all the different leathers—for men, women and children. A shoe to meet every demand both as to style and grade.

Don't pay leather prices for paper shoes. Always ask for and insist upon having "Star Brand" shoes. Nearly 20,000 good merchants sell them. If there is no dealer in your town, write us and we will see that you are supplied.

COSMOPOLITAN LIFE WILL REORGANIZE

Application for a New Charter Will Be Made at Once.

The organization of a new company to take over the Cosmopolitan Life Insurance company, which has been the subject of litigation for the past three months, was decided upon yesterday at a meeting of the committee representing the various stockholders, and an application for a new charter will be made at once.

The new company will be called the Cosmopolitan Life Insurance company, the only change in name being the prefixing of a "the" to the name of the old company, of which the official name was "Cosmopolitan Life Insurance company."

The new company is expected to be ready for business by February 1, and to eventually become one of the strongest and most representative concerns in the south under the new management.

The details whereby the million dollar capital stock will be reduced to meet the state laws and two or three hundred thousand dollars will be added to the surplus, will be worked out at once by the state insurance department, which will also communicate with all the stockholders before final action is taken.

Before the original receivership suit was filed last fall the company had been doing a far greater share of business than is usual for a young company and its officials state that about two and a half million dollars' worth of insurance had been written, with enough applications and new business in sight to bring the amount to four million within a short time.

All stockholders represented Monday at the meeting were enthusiastic over the new concern, and expressed their intention to give their best efforts to the new company.

State Depository Named.—Governor Brown has reappointed the First National bank of Madison as a state depository.

Harris Has Short Liberty.—Evan P. Harris, alias Louis H. Wagner, who was released from the federal prison Sunday, where he had served a two years' term, is now awaiting transfer to the Bibb county jail to answer an old charge. Harris has been indicted at Augusta on the charge of raising a postoffice money order.

ESCAPES TRIAL; ADJUDGED INSANE

Pellagra Victim, Nearing His Death, Will Not Answer to Murder Charge.

Savannah, Ga., December 30.—(Special.)—Thomas J. Harrington, a pellagra victim, adjudged insane here by a lunacy commission, will escape a trial for murder in Liberty county because of his mental condition.

Harrington last summer was a telegraph operator at Ludowici and in a row with a skidder named Smith, who was employed by the Hilton Dodge Lumber company, shot and killed him. Harrington was placed in jail and held on a charge of murder, being later released on bond. He was to have been tried at the spring session of the Liberty county superior court.

Harrington is suffering from a very severe attack of pellagra and it is not thought he can live long.

BIBB IS PLANNING MORE GOOD ROADS

Board Will Ask Legislature to Set Aside Tax Portion For This.

Macon, Ga., December 30.—(Special.) The Bibb county road board desires to spend $75,000 a year on improving the public highways of the county, and with this idea in view, will ask the Bib representatives in the legislature to introduce a bill to have one-fourth of 1 per cent of the tax receipts set aside each year for this work. At the present time one-sixth of 1 per cent is available, amounting to about $51,000 per year.

The petition will be presented to the county commissioners at their next meeting, and it is believed that it will meet with very little objection, as the present appropriation is considered insufficient for the carrying out of the road work.

COL. ROOSEVELT SUES EDITOR FOR LIBEL

Marquette, Mich., December 30.—The Theodore Roosevelt criminal libel case against George A. Newett, editor of Iron Ore, a newspaper published at Ispeming Mich., will be postponed tomorrow, it was announced today, until the disposal of the colonel's civil suit against the editor. Newett is charged with having published an alleged libel injurious to Colonel Roosevelt, by personal reflections on his character. The civil suit is scheduled to be heard in February.

BIG HARDWARE FIRM IN RECEIVER'S HANDS

Anderson Hardware Company Files Petition in Bankruptcy.

The Anderson Hardware company, of Atlanta, one of the largest business houses in the state, yesterday filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy with Deputy Clerk Fred Beers, of the United States court.

The papers indicate liabilities amounting to $142,081.62, with assets of $131,500. The appointment of a receiver was requested.

The assets, as shown by the schedule are made up of $45,000 in bills receivable and open accounts $70,000, approximately in stock in trade, $15,000 in promissory notes and $1,500 in cash. The liabilities include $250 in wages, $8,007.65 in secured claims and $133,833.57 in unsecured claims.

Judge Newman named Thomas D. Meador, vice president of the Lowry National bank, and F. W. McKee, as co-receivers, under $10,000 bond.

TIED CHILDREN AND FIRED HOUSE

That Charge Brought Against Arkansas Preacher—Three Children Dead.

Fort Smith, Ark., December 30.—Ellis Capps, 10 years of age, died in a hospital here today, the third member of the Capps family to succumb to injuries received in a fire which destroyed their home December 12. Rev. Marion Capps, father of the children, is charged with having tied his five motherless children to their beds, fastened the doors and windows, and after having poured oil on the premises, fired the house.

Two of the children were burned to death and three escaped, although badly burned, one of whom died today.

Capps declares the explosion of an oil lamp caused the fire. A coroner's jury has found that he is responsible for the death of his offspring, and a preliminary examining magistrate has bound him over to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of murder.

THREE MEN HELD AS DYNAMITERS

Will Lowry and Johnny Shepard Charged With Terrorizing Fairburn.

Held under suspicion of being connected with serious disturbances at Fairburn during Christmas that culminated in the dynamiting of the town calaboose and home of the deputy marshal, Will Lowry and Johnny Shepard, both residents of Fairburn, were brought to the Tower last night for safe keeping.

Another man whom detectives believe to have been implicated is held in the jail at Fairburn. He is Homer Smith, a youth who is suspected of having secured the dynamite. Detectives are still at work upon the case, and expect to make several other arrests within the next day or so.

Prisoners Deny Guilt.

Lowry and Shepard deny connection with the band that terrorized Fairburn. The detectives say, however, that they have conclusive evidence against both men.

Lowry and Shepard were brought from Fairburn last night at 7 o'clock by Superintendent M. S. Baughn, of the Reed Detective agency. Baughn has been in charge of the corps of sleuths who have been in Fairburn since Christmas. He told a reporter for The Constitution last night that when his work ended, Fairburn will be rid of one of the boldest "crime trusts" that ever operated in a small town.

Baughn accuses Shepard, a youth of 20, of a long string of burglaries committed in Fairburn during the holidays. A large part of the loot obtained from five burglarized establishments was found in Shepard's home, Baughn says, and the valuables have been identified by the owners.

Did They Operate Here.

It is believed, too, that Shepard has been operating in Atlanta. Detectives lay at his door a number of the bold robberies committed in this city which the police and detective departments have been unable to fathom.

"The dynamiting of the Fairburn lock-up and home of Deputy Marshal Banks on Christmas night," said Detective Baughn, "was the result of the vigorous attempt of town officials to exterminate a band of criminals that were terrorizing the cimmunity.

"Lowry, we are positive, was ringleader of the band. Shepard was his lieutenant. In a whisky deal, Lowry recently was arrested by Deputy Marshal Banks and put in the city lock-up. He fared badly before the courts, and swore he would be revenged.

"It is our belief that Lowry, Shepard and four others of their band dynamited the home of Marhal Banks because he had obtained the evidence against Lowry in the whisky case and had made the arrest, and blew up the calaboose for revenge upon the township.

Marshal's Home Shattered.

"Smith, we suspect, obtained the dynamite which was also stolen. The explosive was 40 per cent dynamite, and completely wrecked the lock-up. One entire end of the marshal's home was shattered."

Baughn said that had Lowry and Shepard been left in the Fairburn jail, they in all probability would have escaped within the first twenty-four hours. Their fellow gangsters, the detective said, would have freed them before dawn Tuesday.

Baughn also says that the sleuths have obtained a witness who overheard Lowry and Shepard plotting to dynamite the whole town of Fairburn. This witness will testify that while riding a trolley from Atlanta to Fairburn shortly before Christmas, he heard the plotters' conversation.

Mr. Baughn will return to Fairburn today to resume charge of the detectives at work upon the case.

MARRIAGES INCREASE AS 1912 NEARS CLOSE

There has been a steady demand for marriage licenses since the announcement that the cost would jump from $1.75 to $2.50 after the salary system goes into effect in the ordinary's office.

Ordinary Wilkinson and his office force are suffering writer's cramps as the result of the steady demand which has increased day by day as the old year wans.

Several days ago the word went forth that on account of the enforcement of the salary act, the price of licenses would increase. Since that time more licenses have been issued than in any other year. Some applicants hint, however, that leap year is the real cause.

67,439,642 PASSENGERS RIDE ON CARS IN 1912

Sixty-seven million four hundred and thirty-nine thousand six hundred and forty-two passengers rode on the trolley cars of Atlanta during the year 1912. This is an increase of 5,192,905 over the total number hauled in 1911, showing an increase of 8.3 per cent—the largest in the history of the Georgia Railway and Power company.

Of all those 67,439,642 people riding on the cars, not one passenger was killed. Street car officials believe this is a just cause for congratulation. Every person killed by a street car was either a pedestrian or an occupant of a buggy or automobile, and in practically every case, it is said, the accident was shown to be unavoidable on the motorman's part.

The number of passengers hauled by the street cars during the year is considered a fair gauge of the growing population. The increase has averaged about 5,000,000 per annum during the past five years. The figures include pay passengers, transfers and employees' passes.

FINED FOR FIRING BED, HE THANKS POLICEMAN

Macon, Ga., December 30.—(Special.) Alf Spencer, the white man who set fire to his bed and furniture while drunk in his room in the old Floyd house building Sunday afternoon, and then went to sleep in a chair, was this morning fined $10.75 by the recorder. Spencer said that he was drunk and did not know what he was doing. He was profuse in his thanks to the policeman for arriving on the scene in time to put out the fire before it had gained much headway, saving Spencer's life and preventing a disastrous fire in the heart of Macon's business district.

EDMONDSON LEASES DURAND'S OLD STAND

Changes in Cuisine Will Be Made at Union Depot Restaurant.

John L. Edmondson, one of the best known railroad men in Atlanta, for twenty-three years with the Western and Atlantic, and for the past thirteen years a well-known law agent, has leased Durand's depot restaurant Mr. Durand's control of the property ends tonight, and the new management takes charge Wednesday morning.

The restaurant will be conducted on the same high order as in former years and many improvements will be made. Mr. Edmondson will retain practically the same management. Paul Hambrick, who for some time has been assistant manager, will be manager. Mr. Hambrick is well known and popular.

Among the changes in the cuisine will be a vegetable luncheon which will be put on at once. For the benefit of many, muffins will be reinstated on the bill of fare, from which they have been missing for some time.

LIGHT CONTRACT SIGNED BY MAYOR

Atlanta Gets Cheaper Rates Under New Agreement.

The new contract between the city and the Georgia Railway and Power company for lighting the streets for the next five years was signed by Mayor Courtland Winn for the city, Preston S. Arkwright for the Georgia Railway and Power company, and approved by City Attorney James L. Mayson yesterday.

The contract will go into effect on the first day of January and will save the city approximately $20,000 the first year and more every year thereafter. The contract includes the White Way system.

The city will pay the following rates under the new contract:

Arc lights, present style, $50 per year each; new style, flaming arcs, $55 per year each; White Way, $30 per year per post; incandescent lights, $22 per year each.

Arcs, $56 per year each; White Way posts, $45 per year; incandescent lights, $26 per year each.

Every consumer of current in the city will benefit by the reduction. A great many users use less than $2 worth of current per month, yet under the present $2 minimum rate they must pay that amount. Under the new $1 minimum scale there will be few who will pay for more current than they actually use.

The reductions are as follows:

Electric light, from 9 cents per kilowatt hour to 7 cents per kilowatt hour, and minimum charge from $2 to $1 per month.

Power, from 5.4 cents per kilowatt hour to 4.5 cents per kilowat hour, and minimum charge from $1 per horse power to 50 cents per month per horse power.

The company has in force a sliding scale for consumers who use current for mill and factory purposes.

NEGRO SNATCH THIEVES BUSY MONDAY NIGHT

As Mrs. Mary Patch, of 129 Windsor street, opened the gate to her home late yesterday afternoon, and started up the walk, she was attacked by a young negro snatch thief, who managed to gain possession of her bag, after a short struggle.

The negro started running up Fulton street. Mrs. Patch, screaming for help, ran in pursuit until the negro outdistanced her at Cooper street. The stolen bag contained only twenty-four pennies and a few receipts.

Another snatch case was reported to police headquarters last night. A young woman was robbed by two negro youths at Ormond and Harris streets shortly befire dark. The thieves jerked the woman's handbag and escaped down Ormond street. The purse contained $2.50.

SOUTHERN BUSINESS COLLEGE OPEN NOW FOR ENROLLMENT OF PUPILS FOR WINTER TERM

Many Improvements Are Being Made in the Popular School of Business—A Large Enrollment Expected For the Winter Term.

Have you secured your seat for the winter term in the Southern Shorthand and Business University?

If not, better write, phone or call as soon as possible and arrange details for entering, as the indications point to a very large enrollment for the coming session.

Carpenters, painters and paperhangers have been busy renovating the school rooms, while members of the faculty have been adding some new features to the courses of study, and, with all its past and accrued advantages, the old college will enter the new year in better condition and under more favorable auspices than ever before in the history of this long established institution.

The Southern's Popularity.

There must be a cause for popular favor. The Southern's attendance is always more than double that of any other business college in this section. Why is this the case?

Because it teaches the best systems known to the world and does not advertise fakes.

The Graham-Pitmanic system of shorthand, which the Southern teaches, has been pronounced the best system in the world by a committee appointed by the National Shorthand Reporters' Association of America, said committee being composed of nine of the finest shorthand reporters in the world, all writing different systems. Never before in the history of shorthand has any system received such a splendid indorsement.

Lyceum Course.

The Southern each year secures some of the best lecturers free of charge to the pupils.

Dr. L. O. Bricker will deliver four lectures in the near future. Rev. Marvin Williams, the noted entertainer, will give a recital, and Professor Childs, of the Southern, will give a lecture on "Graphology," or read your character by your penmanship.

Museum.

Professor Bryan is installing a scientific museum and will occasionally give lectures to the pupils.

Punctuation.

Every person in Georgia not familiar with punctuation should send 25 cents in stamps for a copy of Professor Bryan's new "Booklet on Punctuation."

Attend the school with a reputation. Ask Atlanta's business men about the Southern and you'll then know where to obtain your business education.

Call, phone or write at once. A. C. Briscoe, President, or L. W. Arnold, Vice President, 10½ West Mitchell street, Atlanta, Ga.

You Beer Drinkers

Don't Drink Beer from Light Glass Bottles

Read the following opinion of a scientist, an authority who has experimented and therefore knows that "light starts decay even in pure beer."

"We have tested beers repeatedly, placing the bottles in the direct sunlight, and testing the same after one, two, three and five minutes exposure, found that the beer with three and five minutes exposure became undrinkable on account of the peculiar odor developed. The detrimental effect of light upon beer can be successfully counteracted by the employment of brown or dark colored glass bottles, and such bottles are, therefore, recommendable."

—Wahl-Henius Institute of Fermentology.

The Schlitz Brown Bottle is only another step for absolute purity in Schlitz beer.

We have adopted every invention, every innovation, every idea that could make for purity.

Schlitz was first brewed in a hut. Today our agencies dot the earth. Our output exceeds a million barrels a year.

THE REVOLUTIONIZING PARCELS POST.

With the inauguration throughout the United States tomorrow of a domestic parcels post there comes the most important and far-reaching single innovation since the establishment of the postal service itself. The technical details, with which every farmer, every merchant in country and city, every citizen for that matter, should familiarize themselves, are published in another column. Either in its present tentative form or in the simplified system that will ultimately be evolved, the parcels post is destined to work revolutionary and beneficial changes in the cost of living, in general industrial development and in closer relations between city and country. The definition of business given by Adam Smith, the great economist, is, broadly speaking, "the exchange of commodities from where they are produced to where they are needed." And that is the primary function of the parcels post.

The changes to be wrought under the new system will benefit city and country in equal measure. For every advantage reaped by the city, there is a compensating feature for the country, and vice versa. The selling and distributing capacity of the city will be greatly enhanced. The purchasing and selling power of the country will be radically increased. The city merchant and manufacturer will be able to deliver his goods in packages ranging from one to eleven pounds for rates varying from 5 cents a pound locally and for a radius of 50 miles, to 15 cents a pound locally for eleven pounds, 35 cents for eleven pounds within his 50-mile zone, and the maximum, $1.32 for eleven pounds, to the farthest point in the nation. What that means in opening new channels of trade for the city or in broadening those already opened, is obvious.

The advantages gained by the farmer, the cross-roads merchant and the rural resident generally are equally apparent. Once quick and cheap transportation is available, for instance, thousands of Georgia farmers can get in personal touch with thousands of city residents, to whom they can supply direct fresh eggs, butter, vegetables and other farm products. The parcels post will provide this transportation link heretofore missing, save at a high price. The farmer individually, or in groups, can establish direct trade relations with city consumers. The latter will be served with fresh products at a minimum price, thus scaling the cost of living. The farmer will find created for him a new and growing source of revenue. Increase the farmer's purchasing power and you benefit most immediately and directly the cross-roads or small-town merchant with whom he does most of his trading. Year in and year out the farmer patronizes the merchant most convenient to him, stocks and terms being satisfactory. Put more money in the hands of the farmer, and the extension of his sales to city consumers will accomplish that identical end, and you increase his ability to patronize the near-by merchant. For every dollar, under this system, taken out of the country by the parcels post, it is likely the farmer will spend ten with his home merchant—and that augmented purchasing power is as so much bonus to his regular income, coming from the city and not subtracted from the country.

An effect of the parcels post hitherto little considered will be its inevitable influence in stopping the trend from country to city—a process that will militate to the advantage of all factors involved. Good roads, rural free delivery, the daily, weekly or tri-weekly newspaper, the telephone and the automobile, have already wrought wonders in equalizing the advantages as between country and city, and lessening the incentive to desert the one for the other. The parcels post, providing still another medium of interchange, will make further inroads on the isolation that has previously fought against the rural districts; will perceptibly increase the revenues of the farmer, enabling him to better clothe, feed and educate his family, and will add perceptibly to the attractiveness of agriculture as a business pursuit.

All these factors, and others that might be cited, combine to make the induction of a domestic parcels post an epochal event in the industrial and commercial history of the nation. It is safe to assert that long before the expiration of the year 1913 the new postal feature will not only have amply justified itself, but as well indicated the wisdom of broadening and simplifying its application.

HOW LONG WILL ATLANTA STAY BLIND?

In a sharp, keen, unbiased analysis of Atlanta's municipal methods, summarized elsewhere, Herbert R. Sands, expert from the New York bureau of municipal research, indicts virtually every plan by which this city transacts its public business. Mr. Sands is qualified. He spent many weeks here in painstaking examination. He came to Atlanta with a mind absolutely open. His findings are of an unquestionably judicial nature.

Mr. Sands tells the people of this city simply what has been told them before by other experts retained for their ability and brought here at great expense to shed light upon the underlying causes of inefficiency in administration.

One after another, these experts have returned their verdicts, and each has substantially corroborated the other. Lost motion, wholesale lack of co-ordination; entire absence of the imperative element of individual responsibility; scattered authority; false economy; conflict of power; a general system that, right and left, is a positive invitation to mismanagement; almost total absence of building permanently for the future as well as to meet the compulsory needs of the moment!

Every citizen in Atlanta knows these allegations to be founded on fact, and that the conditions arising therefrom create deficiencies and waste that are paid for by the people.

Isn't it time to heed the advice of these high-priced specialists and the evidence of our own senses and set about a thorough house-cleaning? How much longer will Atlanta, with full light before her, remain blind? How much longer will we follow the old, costly, ostrich-head-in-the-sand policy of delay?

A new municipal deal, from top to bottom, for the new year! That is the course that thrusts itself upon every thoughtful citizen. The new council, the chamber of commerce, every industrial and civic body in the city, every citizen, should read each line of Mr. Sands' report, bearing in mind its naked, inescapable moral.

"Just From Georgia"

His New Year Sentiments.

I.

New Year is something to brag on—
Lots o' new triumphs to win;
Trot out the old water wagon—
Reckon I'll climb it ag'in!
Last year I climbed it and stayed on a while;
Mebbe this time I'll be good for a mile.

II.

There will not be room for the many;
A high seat up there makes you proud,
But though I'm as willing as any,
My motto is—never to crowd!
Still, there is nothing like being in style;
Mebbe this time I'll be good for a mile!

He has decided to save the pennies of the New Year, as he can have barrels more fun on the dollars.

He mortgaged the house, which was given him as a Christmas present, to pay for a banquet he gave to his friends.

At the Turn o' the Road.

I.

You'd know it for the New Year time
If not a word were spoken;
The old pipe has been cast away,
The ancient jug is broken.
The patient family, perplexed,
All wondering what is coming next.

II.

It's been this way full many a year,
By smiles and joys attended,
'Tis only once a year I swear,
And then the cause is splendid!
But I myself am sore perplexed:
I'm wondering what is coming next!

A Poet Who Wants Nothing.

Somebody mentioned Judd Mortimer Lewis, of The Houston Post, for senatorial honors, but Judd replied:

"Me go to the senate? And associate with senators and presidents and things? I should say not! And again, not! Seriously: I have not been mentioned as a possible successor to Senator Bailey so far as I know. For myself, I want nothing, nor would I accept anything that would take me away from Houston and my people, whom I love. And who, I am taking your word for it, love me."

The noise is not a cyclone—
An earthquake rumbling nigh
Although it's loud enough to wake
The angels in the sky.
Nor is it thunder, gone astray:

$175,000 IN TAXES RECEIVED ON MONDAY

The state treasury department received approximately $175,000 of the 1912 taxes on Monday. The showing is ver yencouraging, and the department expects similar payments during this week.

The largest amounts were $106,400 from Chatham county, $35,000 from Athens, in Clarke county, and $20,000 from Richmond county.

Scotch Society Entertains.—The Scotch society of Atlanta will entertain its members and their families, together with invited friends, tonight at the Woodmen of the World hall on Hunter street, near Pryor. A delightful program has been arranged for the evening, before the Auditorium floor is cleared for dancing by the younger set at 10 o'clock. Before the dancing there will be music by the singing section of the association.

MAYOR-ELECT TO TAKE OATH IN AUDITORIUM

Walter Taylor, city clerk, is the busiest city official around the hall these days. On his shoulders has been placed the task of making the plans for the inauguration of James G. Woodward, Atlanta's new mayor.

The ceremonies will be conducted in the Auditorium. Council will meet at the city hall at 6:30 o'clock, and will adjourn to the Auditorium. Dr. Percy Starnes will give a concert on the big organ. At 7:30 o'clock Mr. Woodward will be sworn as mayor of Atlanta, and he will then deliver his inaugural address and announce the committee appointments.

Mayor Courtland Winn will deliver his farewell address to council and the people of Atlanta just before Mayor Woodward takes the oath of office.

The last business meeting of the old council will be held at 3 o'clock next Monday afternoon. At that time a resolution will be passed authorizing the holding of the inaugural ceremonies at the Auditorium.

It is being whispered that Mayor Winn will receive a magnificent present from council to commemorate his administration.

OFFICERS DETAILED TO INSPECT MILITIA

Announcement was made in the office of Adjutant General William G. Obear on Monday that the following officers have been detailed by the war department to make the state militia inspections for the coming year:

Captain James M. Kimbrough, who is detailed to duty in the adjutant general's office by the war department, has been detailed also to inspect the arsenal.

Lieutenant A. P. King, Jr., of the United States artillery, will inspect the field batteries.

CONVICT IS PAROLED TO SUPPORT HIS FAMILY

Governor Brown on Monday granted the parole of John Adams, of Dalton Ga., a young white man serving a three-year-term in the state penitentiary for burglary.

The parole was granted on recommendation of the prison commission and the court. His youth and the needs of his young wife and two children were pleaded as causes for granting the parole.

Adams had served two years of his term. He was 19 years old at the time of his conviction. He was convicted with four older men, with whom he had helped build a store in Dalton. After the store was completed the men kept one of the keys and later used it to enter and rob the store. The other men were not paroled.

JOHN N. COOPER DEAD; PIONEER OF GWINNETT

Lawrenceville, Ga., December 30.—(Special.)—John Newton Cooper, one of Gwinnett's oldest and wealthiest citizens, died Saturday night at 11 o'clock. Two years ago he was stricken with paralysis and had been confined to his bed since the first stroke.

In 1868 Mr. Cooper married Miss Nona Rawlins, and besides his wife is survived by the following children: Charles W., Adolphus J., C. D., James Latham and C. C. Cooper, and Mrs. R. W. Rogers, all of Lawrenceville. He was an uncle of Judge Charles H. Brand, of Athens; Colonel John R. Cooper, of Macon, and otherwise prominently connected.

The deceased was a member of the Methodist church and his pastor, Rev. J. T. Eakes, conducted the funeral services today at 2 o'clock, with interment in the local cemetery.

1,000,000 GALLONS OIL FOR PRESERVING TIES

Savannah, Ga., December 30.—(Special.)—Loaded with 1,000,000 gallons of creosote oil for the Central of Georgia railway, the steamer Caucassian arrived today from England. The steamer is docked at the Ocean Steamship wharves, near the immense creosote tank which has just been completed, and tomorrow the work of pumping the oil from the steamer into the tank will begin.

This oil is used for treating the woods used by the road, thus preserving the wood. The main purpose for which it is used is in treating crossties.

1913 FAIR AT MACON WILL LAST ONLY WEEK

Macon, Ga., December 30.—(Special.) The Georgia state fair for 1913 will last for only one week, probably October 20-26.

This was the decision reached at a meeting of the directors tonight, attended also by President John T. Williams and Secretary M. V. Calvin, of the Georgia Agricultural society. Heretofore the fair has lasted for ten days.

At a joint meeting of the directors of the agricultural society and the fair association, to be held soon, plans for a race meeting during the next fair will be taken up.

FUNERAL IS CONDUCTED ACCORDING TO ORDERS

Chanite, Kan., December 30.—Carrying out the instructions of Charles E. Alexander a civil war veteran, a friend read at his funeral here today the address prepared for the occasion by Mr. Alexander eight years ago. The address covered eleven typewritten pages and was an examination of the writer's views regarding the hereafter. Religious doctrines were denounced. Mr. Alexander prepared the list of pallbearers five years ago. He was 76 years old.

POLICEMAN SUSPENDED FOR HITTING FIREMAN

Macon, Ga., December 30.—(Special.) W. A. Thompson, police patrol wagon driver, was this evening suspended for a period of three months as a result of his recent difficulty with Sam Hyman, a fireman.

Thompson offered no defense to the charge that he had knocked Hyman down and then threatened him with a pistol.

Three Killed by Gas.

Chicago, December 30.—John Klein, 35 years old, his wife, and Charles Wehoffer, 34 years, were found asphyxiated in the Klein residence on the south side today. Whether gas escaped accidentally could not be determined.

MEWING OF PEN CAT BALKS ESCAPE OF JESSE POMEROY

Boston, December 30.—Jesse Pomeroy, whose crimes startled the country nearly forty years ago, attempted unsuccessfully to escape from the state prison at Charlestown today. Pomeroy is serving a life sentence for torturing two children to death when he was 13 years of age.

The convict left his cell by sawing three bars from the door. The mewing of a cat which followed Pomeroy along the corridor attracted the attention of Thomas Brassel, an attendant, shortly before daylight, and when he ordered the murderer to throw up his hands, the prisoner made no resistance.

Pomeroy had made careful plans to escape. A dummy had been arranged in his bed, so that the officer on duty would not notice his absence. The steel bars of the cell door were cut by a saw made out of two small pieces of steel. The prison officials have not learned how the murderer obtained them.

Pomeroy was sentenced to be hanged in 1874 for the brutal murder of a small girl and boy, Katie Curren and H. H. Millon, in South Boston. The sentence was commuted to life imprisonment in solitary confinement.

The convict has attempted twice before to escape. Aided by his mother, he has petitioned every governor of the state for thirty years to grant him a pardon. He is 53 years old.

WHEN JOHN D., JR., FACED CRISIS HE PRAYED AND RECEIVED ANSWER

New York, December 30.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in addressing a large audience in the Young Men's Christian association building at Tarrytown, which was made possible by a gift of $50,000 from his father, told of his faith in prayer and of how, when he faced the crisis of his life, and happiness and usefulness to the world depended upon the decision, he prayed to God for four years, night and morning, to guide him on the right path.

Suddenly one morning before dawn had broken, he arose from his bed and lighted a lamp. He said the path of his life had been then and there made as clear to him as though a sign was before him pointing out the right road for him to follow. He took his pen and there in the early morning committed himself to the life he should lead. What the crisis was or how he committed himself he did not say.

"No man can prove to me that there is nothing in prayers after my experience," he said. "God answered me."

Mr. Rockefeller, who served as foreman of the "white slave" grand jury a few years ago, recently gave $20,000 toward the investigation of police conditions in New York, now in progress.

KIDERLEN-WAECHTER DIES OF HEART FAILURE

Stuttgart, Germany, December 30.—Alfred von Kiderlen-Waechter, secretary of state of the German empire, died suddenly from heart failure at his home here today after a brief illness.

Kiderlen-Waechter was enjoying his usual Christmas visit to his sister, the Baroness von Gemmingen, near here. He had felt ill for several days, so much so that physicians who were called in feared a fatal termination, as his heart action was very irregular.

Alfred von Kiderlen-Waechter was 60 years of age. He had occupied ofice as imperial secretary of state for foreign affairs only since June 28, 1910, when he succeeded Wilhelm von Schoen, who became German ambassador to France.

Kiderlen von Waechter was known to be one of the shrewdest men in German diplomacy and was regarded as an expert on affairs of the near east, owing to his having been stationed for a long time in the Balkans, and his disappearance from the German cabinet at the present time is considered to be a great misfortune.

WOMEN WON'T MARCH IN THE WAKE OF WILSON

Chicago, December 30.—There will be no band of suffragists marching behind President Wilson and Mr. Taft in Washington, March 4. The plan has been dropped, it was announced here yesterday by officials of the National American Woman's Suffrage association. Instead the suffragists will march through the streets of the national capital March 3, headed by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Miss Jane Addams and Dr. Anna Howard Shaw.

In announcing their intention not to appear in the inaugural parade, the officials said that it was poor policy to play second fiddle to anybody. "The inaugural parade is primarily an affair for the incoming president. What we are seeking to do is to attract attention to the woman's suffrage movement," they said.

DESERTER CONFESSES TO DOUBLE MURDER

Miami, Fla., December 30.—The mysterious murder of two Italians named Rosani and Spenelli, on Grass Key in April, 1910, was cleared up today by the confession of Francis Bridger, in jail at Key West, according to dispatches from Key West this morning. Bridger was arrested in Georgia as an alleged deserter from the army, following the kidnaping of a boy named Gallagher in Miami last spring. According to the police Bridger stated the Italians were assisting him in disposing of counterfeit money when a dispute arose, in which he knocked them both in the head, later throwing their bodies off the railroad bridge into the ocean.

SOIL SURVEY WORK IN GEORGIA COUNTIES

Washington, December 30.—(Special.) During the fiscal year 1912 the bureau of soils made 1,198 square miles of detailed soil survey work in Georgia. The work was done in Ben Hill, Chattooga, Dougherty and Troup counties. The bureau has done 9,059 square miles of detailed soil survey work since it began work in the state. The work will result in separate bulletins being issued by the department of agriculture, showing the agricultural conditions in the counties and the different types of soils encountered during the surveys, and what crops they are best adapted to, and advice showing what improved methods of farming should be followed in order that the best possible yields per acre could be obtained.

Hoy Hearn, Fairburn.

Fairburn, Ga., December 30.—(Special.)—After a brief illness, Hoy Hearn, aged 36 years, died at 2 o'clock Monday morning at a private sanitarium in Atlanta, where he had been carried for an operation. Funeral services, conducted by Rev. H. C. Emory, of the Methodist church, will be held at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, with interment in Fairburn cemetery. Mr. Hearn is survived by his wife and two young children.

Banks Increasing Capital.

Montgomery, Ala., December 30.—(Special.)—Superintendent of Banks Alex E. Walker has received notice from C. A. Beasley, of Fayette, Ala., that a bank is soon to be organized at that place. Mr. Beasley and other prominent citizens of Fayette will be interested in the new banking institution. Superintendent Walker expects that a large number of banks of the state will increase their capital stock early in January.

Ingersoll's Daughter a Bride.

New York, December 30.—Miss Maude R. Ingersoll, daughter of the late Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll, was married here today to Walter McLean Probasco, of Cincinnati. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. John L. Elliott, of the Ethical Culture society, in strict accordance with the ideas of Colonel Ingersoll.

SHE WAS HANDED $150,000 AFTER SHE GOT DIVORCE

Chicago, December 30.—Mrs. Grace Brown Guggenheim, former wife of William Guggenheim, millionaire and youngest son of Meyer Guggenheim, of New York, took the stand today in her attempt to have the divorce she obtained set aside. During the two hours she was testifying, part of which time she was under cross-examination by Samuel Untermyer, counsel for Mr. Guggenheim, she told that she was an undesired acquisition to the Guggenheim family. Mrs. Guggenheim said that she was urged to obtain the divorce by members of the Guggenheim family, and that after she had obtained the divorce and had been handed a check for $150,000 as alimony, she learned that her attorney, Louis Warner, had been paid by the Guggenheims.

"Why did you take the check for $150,000?" demanded Mr. Untermyer.

"It was handed to me. If it were handed to you I think you would take it," replied Mrs. Guggenheim, with a smile.

Mrs. Guggenheim denied she had demanded $250,000 to release her former husband. She also said that she had no wish to re-enter the Guggenheim family, but secured her divorce, because she was asked to do so by Daniel Guggenheim, her former husband, and Mr. Untermyer.

RAIL-COAL COMBINATION IS DECLARED UNLAWFUL

Columbus, Ohio, December 30.—The government won a partial victory in its suit against the Lake Shore, Hocking Valley, Kanawha and Michigan, Chesapeake and Ohio and other railroads and the Sunday Creek Coal company, as a result of a decision in the United States circuit court which was filed with United States District Judge Sater here today.

The following is the gist of the opinion written by Judge Warrington:

"Upon the whole we conclude that the March agreement and what has been done and is being done under it operate to monopolize commerce among the states, and consequently that the complainant is entitled to relief, the precise nature and extent of which cannot at this stage be determined. However, we now hold:

"1. That the equitay of the Lake Shore and the Chesapeake and Ohio in the capital stock of the Sunday Creek Coal company shall be disposed of by absolute sale.

"2. That the joint ownership and control of the Kanawha and Michigan must be terminated."

BAILEY IS PREPARING TO SING "SWAN SONG"

(By John Corrigan, Jr.)

Washington, December 30.—(Special.)—Senator Bailey will deliver his swan song in the senate on Thursday. It will be a political adress of general scope, in which he will give his views and impressions on leaving public life.

Among the political principles that he will especially condemn are the initiative and referendum. A dozen of Senator Bailey's constituents have journeyed to Washington from their Texas homes, 2,000 miles away, to hear his final speech in the senate. Walter Collins, democratic executive committeeman, heads the delegation. John Stevens, a civil war veteran, Indian fighter and enemy of "rustlers," is another of the hardy band who are paying this tribute of love and admiration for a man who is still the hero of thousands of Texans.

RATES ON FURNITURE HELD UNREASONABLE

Washington, December 30.—Freight rates of $1.70 a hundred pounds on bedroom furniture and $1.75 on chairs from North Carolina points of origin to Pacific coast terminals today were held by the interstate commerce commission to be unreasonable and discriminatory. It was ordered that the rates from Carolina territory should not exceed those contemporaneously in effect from Virginia points, which are about 14 per cent lower than the Carolina rates.

SOUTHERN WAR CLAIMS ARE UP TO THE SENATE

Washington, December 30.—(Special.)—One of the first measures to be taken up when the senate resumes on Thursday is the omnibus bill, embodying a number of southern war claims.

As usual, the method used to defeat these claims is to load down the bill with the French spoliation claims, and, despite the fact that the bill passes the house at every congress, it fails in the senate.

Senator Lodge this year offered an amendment embodying the French spoliation claims, which amount to several millions of dollars.

Carlton Beussee Dead.

Athens, Ga., December 30.—(Special.) Carlton Beussee, well known as a ball player and manager on the teams at Rome, Ga.; Spartanburg, S. C.; Greensboro, N. C., and other points, died here tonight after a long illness. He leaves a wife and five small sons.

HANDCUFFED MEN BREAK INTO SONG

suspended sentences left thirty-three who are to go to Leavanworth, where the shortest sentence will be one year and one day.

By the liberation of Hiram R. Kline, a former official of the carpenters' union, Olaf A. Tveitmoe, of San Francisco, remained as the only labor union official among the prisoner not related with the iron workers' union. But it was Tveitmoe who was charged by the government with having connived with President Ryan and McNamara for the destruction of life and property on the Pacific coast. It was Tveitmoe who again and again was referred to by the government, before the jury, as a "murderer who ought to be in San Quentin prison along with the McNamaras."

"Some Are Guilty of Murder."

From the bench, Federal Judge Albert B. Anderson read in connection with sentencing the men, a statement in which he said:

"The evidence shows some of these defendants to be guilty of murder."

The court said, also, "the evidence in this case will convince any impartial person that government by injunction is infinitely to be preferred to government by dynamite."

The sentence of Herbert S. Hockin, termed "the Iago of the conspiracy," and the sentence of Tveitmoe, was received by each of them without an expression.

Eugene A. Clancy, San Francisco, and J. E. Munsey, Salt Lake City, both of whom were charged with assisting in the escape of James B. McNamara from the scene of his crime at Los Angeles, also received their sentences in silence.

When the court issued a general invitation to any of the men to state what reasons they had, if any, why sentence should not be pronounced, Ryan, too, remained silent.

Steps toward appeals in behalf of all the prisoners to the United States circuit court of appeals, already have been taken. Chester H. Krum, with other counsel, appeared before Judge Anderson late today to arrange for the filing of writs of errors. This formality may be done tomorrow.

Meantime, Mr. Krum said, there was no prospect of procuring liberty for any of the men through supersedeas bonds. All the prisoners are to go to Leavenworth.

Secret Journey to the Pen.

What time the special train is to carry them there, United States Marshal Edward Schmidt refused to state, as he had been instructed to keep in absolute secrecy the departure and route of the train. It was understood no efforts would be made to take the train out before tomorrow.

Less than twenty minutes was required by the court in the work of actually imposing sentences, although for an hour and a half before that time Judge Anderson invited each prisoner to step up and talk with him as to his degree of guilt.

The scene was unusual. The prisoners had been arranged three rows deep, each being seated in alphabetical arrangement. In front sat a dozen attorneys for the defense, whose motions for setting aside the verdicts and for arrests of judgments all were overruled. Behind, in the rear, shut off by a railing, were the relatives of the prisoners. There were several hundred persons in the room, but one voice only was heard at a time. That was the judge's voice or the voice of a prisoner who had stepped forward to plead for mercy.

Judge Anderson said his reason for wanting to talk to some of the men was that he believed some evidence might have been brought out in the trial which was omitted.

"If there is any one of you who has anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced, he may step forward," said the court. For a moment, no one spoke or moved.

Again the invitation was repeated. Finally six men arose, and stepped forward one by one. The six men were Patrick F. Farrell, James Cooney, James Coughlin, William C. Bernhardt, Frank J. Murphy and Hiram Kline.

Of these six, all but Bernhardt procured liberty through suspended sentences.

"You Know You Are Guilty."

Bernhardt, in pleading his cause, began: "I hope God may strike me dead—"

But here the court interrupted. "Sit down. You know you are guilty."

Bernhardt's sentence later was one year and one day.

"Do you think dynamiting is right?" was asked of each prisoner who pleaded. The answer invariably was, "No, your honor." Each prisoner disclaimed any knowledge of the dynamite plots.

Just before passing sentence, Judge Anderson announced he wanted to read a statement. Before he had proceeded far a child in the corridor began to cry, and the judge paused long enough to order that the door be kept closed. It was the 4-year-old George Bernhardt, son of the Cincinnati prisoner, who had been playing in the corridor with Christmas toys. In consequence of his crying, about one-third of the prisoners had been sentenced before the doors were opened to allow people to go out.

The courtroom was more crowded than usual. Among many women present was Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, widow of the former president. The sentences were read by the court from a slip of paper, the names and the terms of imprisonment being called off rapidly. A few minutes later the courtroom was cleared of all except the prisoners, who, with their families, were allowed to remain in the federal building until late in the afternoon.

Prisoners Sing on Way to Jail.

At 3:15 o'clock the prisoners, shackled to deputy marshals, with Marshal Schmidt and Superintendent of Police aMrtin J. Hyland in the lead, stepped out of the federal building and on their march to the county jail, began to sing, "On the Banks of the Shannon." The singing continued, with crying women and children following the procession, almost until the jail was reached. Every effort by the officials to stop the demonstration caused louder singing.

As the line reached the prisoners' entrance to the jail the deputies stepped aside, the handcuffs were removed and the prisoners were checked by Marshal Schmidt. At the entrance of the jail yard the police held back the crowd. The deputies and prisoners marched through the yard to the entrance, while hundreds of spectators craned their necks and jostled each other to see how the prisoners bore up under the strain.

As Anderson, of Cleveland, the first man in the line, passed a moving picture photographer, he smiled, and said to his guard: "He's on the job." Some of the men puffed nervously on cigars, others were still chewing toothpicks they used after luncheon in the federal building.

Nine minutes after Anderson, the first man, left the federal building, the entire procession had reached the entrance of the jail. A few minutes later the handcuffs had been removed from the last prisoner and the jail door had clashed shut behind them.

The prisoners after they had been separated from their relatives at the federal building sang, "Oh, Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" and repeated the song a few minutes before they left the room for jail.

Hiram Kline, who was released on suspended sentence, mingled with the friends and families of the convicted men in the corridors. He was crying as he bid his former associates farewell.

Murphy Prises Judge Anderson.

Murphy, of Detroit, one of the defendants who was released under suspended sentence, said: "Not because he let me go without punishment, but because I think it is due to him, I want to say that a fairer judge never lived than Judge Anderson. I am absolutely innocent. What I say about Judge Anderson I say in view of what I have observed all through this trial."

"I wish all the judges in this country, from the judges of the supreme state judges on down to the judges of the police court, were like Judge Anderson."

Any minimum which meant liberty through suspended sentence to a maximum of thirty-nine and one-half years, were the limitations of the amount of punishment within which the court had discretion.

Clark's suspension of punishment, after he had pleaded guilty, throws an interesting light on Ortie E. McManigal, another confessed dynamiter.

McManigal already had pleaded guilty to the charges here, but he was brought here as a prisoner of Los Angeles county, where he also pleaded guilty. He is to be returned to Los Angeles in connection with further investigations there.

The fact that Clark received a suspended sentence was regarded as significant in possibly presaging leniency toward McManigal. McManigal, however, confessed personally to causing twenty-one explosions.

All the men who received six-year sentences excepting Munsey and Barry, of St. Louis, who received four years, and Beum, of Minneapolis, and Legleitner, of Denver, who each received three years, were present or former members of the iron workers' executive board. As such they were accused of appropriating out of the union's funds $1,000 a month for Secretary McNamara to carry on the dynamiting campaign.

Ryan Signed McNamara Checks.

The testimony was that part of that money was used in sending James B. McNamara to the Pacific coast to blow up The Los Angeles Times building; that the money was paid to McNamara in checks signed by President Ryan and marked "by order of the executive board," and that Leo M. Rappaport, an attorney for McNamara, after visiting the dynamiter at San Quentin prison, came back to Indianapolis, and at McNamara's direction destroyed a small blue check book in which the record of the dynamiting expenses was kept.

All the men who received suspended sentences were among those who testified in their own behalf. Ryan testified in his own behalf, but Tveitmoe, Clancy, Webb, Hockin, Munsey, Young and Cooley did not.

The court instructed the jury that the fact that these men did not take the stand was not to be considered against them.

Two little girls gave the chief testimony against Anderson and Smith, of Cleveland. They said they were walking along a country road near North Randall, Ohio, one evening, when they saw Smith and Anderson carrying a box. It was the same box in which the government charged was carried the dynamite by which $45,000 damage was done at North Randall that night. One little curly-headed girl testified she recognized Anderson "because he had a funny face."

SENTENCES VERY LENIENT DECLARES WICKERSHAM

Washington, December 30.—Attorney General Wickersham today declared that, in his opinion, the federal court at Indianapolis had been extremely lenient in imposing sentences on the labor officials convicted in the "dynamite conspiracy." The statement, the attorney general emphasized, was made without intention to criticise Judge Anderson.

Mr. Wickersham said that in all probability he would send the evidence collected at the Indianapolis trial to the authorities of the states where the offenses were committed with a view to permitting those officials to try, under state laws, any of the defendants they might desire to prosecute in connection with dynamitings. Such defendants, he added, could be tried during the service of their federal prison terms, and if convicted, turned over to the states for further punishment after the expiration of the federal terms.

The convictions at Indianapolis, said the attorney general, constituted one of the greatest accomplishments in the history of the American courts. They proved, he added, that officers and agents of no organization, however powerful, whether of capital, labor or idlers, could wield their influence to break the laws of the country. The results of this trial and the recent indictment at New York of President Mellen, of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, and President Chamberlain and Chairman Smithers, of the Grand Trunk, for the alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, proved, the attorney general declared, that the laws of the United States are enforced against rich and poor alike.

INJUNCTION GOVERNMENT BETTER

Says U. S. Judge Anderson

THAN GOVERNMENT BY DYNAMITE

In Passing Sentence the Judge Also Said Some of the Defendants Were Guilty of Murder.

Indianapolis, Ind., December 30.—Federal Judge Anderson's statement, in which he stated that "the evidence shows some of these defendants to be guilty of murder," was read by him from the bench. The statement in full follows:

"In 1905, there was a contest on between the American Bridge company, a concern engaged in the erection of structural iron, and the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, of which association all but two of the defendants in this case are members, over the open and closed shop question, the bridge company having declared its purpose to conduct its affairs on the open shop basis. In August, 1905, the international association declared a general strike against the bridge company throughout the United States, and this later was extended to all open shop concerns in any way connected or allied with or subsidiary to the bridge company. This strike has never been settled.

Campaign by Dynamite.

"In the early period of its existence the strike was attended with the usual incidents of picketing, slugging and rioting, but in 1906 a campaign of dynamite was inaugurated, and beginning with explosions in the east and extending from the Atlanta to the Pacific, continuing until the arrest of the McNamaras and McManigal in April, 1911, the evidence in this case shows that almost 100 explosions, damaging and destroying structures in process of erection by, and machinery of, open shop concerns took place, culminating on the first day of October, 1910, in the destruction of the Los Angeles Times building and the murder of twenty-one people. Every one of those explosions was upon the work of open shop concerns, and no explosion is shown to have taken place upon any closed shop job. Since the arrest of the McNamaras and McManigal these explosions have ceased.

"This system of destruction was not carried on for revenge or in obedience to any other human passion, but for the deliberate purpose, by a veritable reign of terror, to enforce compliance with the demands of the iron workers' upon the open and closed shop question.

"For a number of years the international has published an official journal, known as the ridgemen's Magazine. The constitution of the international requires that the secretary-treasurer shall make monthly reports of all moneys received and expended, and publish the same in the official journal. Early in the conspiracy, the defendant, Ryan, president of the international, wrote a leter to J. J. McNamara, the secretary, advising that from that time until the strike was over this provision of the constitution be not observed. McNamara, by letter, called the president's attention to the fact that this was in violation of the constitution, but that he would lay the matter before the executive board.

Expenditures Suppressed.

"In February, 1906, the executive board resolved 'to omit the publication of expenditures and recapitulation until further instructions are given. The monthly financial report shall consist of the receipts alone.' Notice of this official action was published in the Bridgemen's Magazine each month, down to the present time. Letters of the various defendants, and records of the association, and other proofs, demonstrate beyond question that each member of the executive board was a party to this scheme, or plan, for violation of the constitution of the association, and knew the purpose and object of it.

"It is further shown by the indubitable proof of papers and records of the International association that dynamite and nitroglycerin, the batteries, clocks and caps out of which, with ingenious deviltry, the infernal machines were contrived, and the work of setting the explosions, were all paid for out of the funds of the International association; and that these funds were drawn from the association upon checks signed by the secretary-treasurer, John J. McNamara, and by the president, the defendant, Frank M. Ryan.

"Two of the defendants in this case, McManigal and Clark, have pleaded guilty and testified to their participation in and knowledge of the conspiracy and its execution. The principal of these is McManigal, whose story, as testified to upon the witness stand, was given in such manner as to of itself carry conviction of its truth. But in addition to this, his testimony is corroborated by letters of various of of the defendants, by the records of the international association, by the records of banks, telegraph companies, express companies, telephone companies and of the United States postoffice, by hotel registers and other facts and circumstances, which leave no doubt as to the truth of his testimony, both in substance and detail.

"This scheme or campaign of dynamite was entered into and carried on throughout the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific and necessarily involved the illegal transportation of dynamite and nitroglycerin upon the vehicles and cars of common carriers, carrying passengers from state to state. Many more than the twenty-five transportations charged in the indictment have been proved in this case.

Hockin Said "Damn the Law."

"The attitude of mind of the defendants toward the law is illustrated by an incident that took place with the defendant Hockin. The uncontradicted evidence shows that the defendant Hockin, at one time during the life of the conspiracy, sought to purchase nitroglycerin from a certain witness for the government. This witness asked him how he proposed to take it away. Hockin said in suit cases on the train. The witness asked him if he knew what the law was and its penalties, whereupon Hockin replied 'damn the law.' The letters of many of these defendants and certain of the proceedings of the conventions of the international association breathe the same disregard for law.

"The evidence disclose san appalling list of crimes in addition to those charged in the indictments. These crimes were all committed in the name of organized labor. I will not believe that organized labor approves of such practices. Any organization that approves and adopts the methods of these defendants is an outlaw and will meet the fate which outlaws have met since civilized society began.

"The evidence shows that in the early part of this struggle, one court issued an injunction against violence. It is the one bright spot in the dark history of this conspiracy. In recent years we have heard much denunciation of government by injunction, but a consideration of the evidence in this case will convince any impartial person that government by injunction is infinitely to be preferred to government by dynamite.

"The evidence unquestionably establishes that the officers and persons occupying positions as members of the executive board of the international association, from the time of the action of the board in directing the omission from the monthly publication of the detailed expenses, as stated, up to the time of the arrest of the McNamaras and McManigal, each knew of and aided in the purchase and unlawful transportation of dynamite and nitroglycerin, as above stated.

Extent of Conspiracy.

"The only question has been how far the conspiracy extended, and whether or not all of the defendants on trial were parties thereto. The evidence clearly establishes that each of the defendants found guilty by the verdict of the jury was a member of this conspiracy, and in some measure aided or abetted in the unlawful transportation charged in the inuictment. Upon this proposition there can be no reasonable question. The only difficulty is that now devolving upon the court to determine, as near as may be possible, the degree of guilt of the leaders ni this business, the relative degree of guilt of the other defendants and to apportion the punishment accordingly.

"In fixing the punishment to be meted out to the leaders in these crimes, the court must not forget that they can only be punished here for the offenses they have been guilty of committing against the United States. The appalling crimes growing out of this conspiracy were allowed to be shown in evidence only because they tended to show the community of purpose, the concert of mind and action, which is an essential ingredient of the crimes charged, and the effect of such evidence was carefully limited to this in the courts instructions to the jury. The court must not now give it any other effect.

Some Guilty of Murder.

"The evidence shows some of these defendants to be guilty of murder, but they are not charged here with that crime; this court cannot punish them for it, nor should it be influenced by such consideration in fixing the measure of punishment for the crimes charged.

"The certainty of punishment, not its severity, is the important consideration in the administration of criminal justice. Such punishment should be meted out as shall warn others that even if they desire to accomplish lawful ends, they must not violate the law in the attempt to realize them.

Keeping these considerations in view the court must repress that indignation with every law-abiding citizen naturally feels at the crimes which the evidence in this case discloses in addition to those for which the defendants have been found guilty, and as near as may be possible, confine the punishment within its proper scope."

He was arrested by City Detective Pat Campbell, and the case was prosecuted in court by representatives of the Pinkerton National Detective bureau. McCreight was charged with taking collection cases in the name of "Pinkerton and company, United States detective agency." Harry Scott, assistant superintendent of the Atlanta office of the Pinkerton National Detective bureau, explained in court that McCreight's company had no connection with his agency.

Our Modern Dances Are More

—Dancing Revival Hopeful Sign—

Sinned Against Than Sinning

Though there is a good deal of carping criticism at the present moment about certain modern dances which are more sinned against than sinning by the ungraceful who dance them, there is no doubt that the revival of dancing the world over as the favored form of pleasure is a hopeful sign.

To the Russian dancers we owe much of the tendency to give dancing its due, and to place it where it belongs, for, though we take nothing from that delightful "Mademoiselle" of the French, still the "queen of ballet," no nation has put as much into the dance as have the Russian exponents of the art, who have it taught under royal patronage. Just as the painter expresses the universal language in his art, and the great writer expresses his when it pleases the great and the simple, and the composer of genius gives music to charm king and peasant, Pavlowa contributed in her dancing the word in universal language.

With Mordkin in the group of dances they gave the American audience, they proved that there was art and music and the drama in the dance; that dancing could be made intellectual and scientific and appeal none the less to the senses. They proved that the dance could be fascinating, subtly charming and satisfy men of all tastes and still not suggest the sensual, or pervert the most innocent.

There Are Dances And Dances.

While this influence may not yet be widely felt, there can be no doubt in the mind of one studious of these matters that there is being drawn, and that sharply, too, the difference between the dances which have the beautiful and the artistic as their aim, and those which in their spirit and movement are so objectionably resonant with that note of the streets of Cairo, which first vibrated on the atmosphere of American morals at the Chicago exposition.

There was a time when dancing was a part of the education of the youth, though it was called an accomplishment. For a long time it has been neglected, and little boys and birls who first learned to dance and coquette while their parents and nurses sat by, and applauded their first steps and bows, grew up with certain little acts of grace and courtesy which they learned at dancing school and never forgot.

That mode for a time passed. The school system in its desire to be practical bound the youth of the time down to books. He became stoop-shouldered and awkward. The "female form divine" was likewise neglected and boorish athletics began to threaten the youth of the nation and to punch all the natural grace out of it.

Factories Provide Dancing Halls.

Then came a rationalism in our educational system: physical culture has been inaugurated, music introduced and now in the more modern public school systems the folk and aesthetic dances are being taught the rich and the poor child alike; welfare workers find that the supervised dance hall is the best medium of recreation in their social betterment plan. (Two Atlanta factories have placed pianos in their recreation halls that their employees may have dancing during luncheon hour.)

And in accordance with the wise saying of an American woman writer, "the highest civilization is that in which the largest number are so placed as to realize the dignity and beauty of the common experience and obligations." While the little factory boy and girl are dancing, and the little slum boy in the big city is getting his first fun at school when he dances, Robert and William are taking the first dancing lessons in the luxurious drawing room and their mothers are learning the same steps with them.

All people who dance may not accomplish the science or grace of the art at Pavlosa and Mordkin any more than all music lovers can hope to become Amatos or Gadskis, but they can have the pleasure of understanding and of joining in with the harmony of the principle which dancing represents in its bodily grace and spirit of recreation.

NEW YEAR'S BALL TONIGHT TO BE HAPPY OCCASION

The annual ball at the Capital City club tonight will be a notable occasion, when the entire club membeership and their lady friends will assemble to make merry the last night of the year, and welcome in the New Year. The reception begins at 9 o'clock, and the receiving party, standing in the salon of the ballroom, will include the officers of the club and their wives, and the members of the governing board and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. Gentry, Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy, Dr. and Mrs. Elkin, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Brutus Clay, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Inman, Mr. C. I. Ryan and Mr. Edward Austin.

The ballroom will be thrown open early in the evening and there will be inspiring music. The decorations will be in accordance with the holiday season—in green and red. An elegant supper will be served.

The annual balls at the Capital City club have been distinctive occasions in Atlanta for twenty-five years, and at the old club they were among the handsomest entertainments given in the south. In the beginning, when the club membership admitted of it, there was ceremony observed in the New Year's event. At 12 o'clock the president addressed the company, and the loving cup was passed about. The larger company would assemble in the ladies' cafe, and the guests at 12 being served in other rooms, would cup to enjoy the midnight toasts, started by the president. Then the growth of the club outgrew this possibility, and last year the party was so large that the entire club had to be thrown open at the supper hour, the guests being separated in large parties.

Many guests from out of town will be among those entertained at the club tonight, and the committees in charge promise a beautiful and happy occasion.

At East Lake Country Club.

There will be a subscription dance at the Country club, East Lake, Wednesday evening, January 1, for the members of the club and their lady friends.

School Girl Belles Entertain.

Mr. and Mrs. Roby Robinson entertained at a buffet supper and dance last evening for the pleasure of their young daughter, Miss Isobel Robinson, who is still in school, and one of the most admired of the group of lovely young girls who have brought the brightest sunshine to the holiday gaieties.

Receiving with Miss Robinson were Miss Adgate Ellis and her guests, Miss Campbell, of California; Miss Thompson, of Pennsylvania; Miss Davis, of Charlottesville, Va., and Miss Virginia Lipscomb and her guest, Miss Dorothy Carr, of Mississippi.

In these fair visitors have been centered many of the delightful holiday parties, and on the occasion of last evening the party of thirty or forty included the girls home from school for the holidays, and the young men home from college.

They assembled at 8 o'clock and found to continue the atmosphere of Christmas a luxury of woodland smilax everywhere; Christmas wreaths in the windows, and banks of fern and red flowers on the mantels and cabinets. There were palms in the hallway and library, and the back porch inclosed continued the holiday scheme of woodland foliage and potted poinsettia.

In the dining room, where a delicious hot supper was served, the table decorations were in red. In the center was a tall vase of Richmond roses. Small vases held narcissi, and the silver candlesticks had shades of red. The mints were in that color, as were all the minor appointments.

Mrs. Robinso wore a becoming toilet in black lace over white satin. Miss Robinson's dainty beauty was accentuated by her toilet of palest pink satin with panier overdress of pale blue chiffon, the corsage trimmed in pink rosebuds.

Miss Dickey Entertains at Arden.

It was the ideal Christmas party at which Miss Catherine Dickey, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Dickey, entertained at Arden, their country place, last evening. The guests, numbering forty, were bidden at 7 o'clock, and in their white frocks and colored ribbon bows, their pink and blue slippers, were pictures of the little girls one associates with fairy books and flowers.

The house was charming in Yuletide decorations, the big open fireplaces, with burning logs, giving a tone of warmth and homelikeness, while Christmas wreaths in the windows, sprays of mistletoe hanging from the arched doorways, and woodland smilax everywhere completed the setting. House plants showed red blooms, and on the table from which fruit punch was served, there were decorations in smilax and holly. Delicious refreshments were served buffet fashion, and dancing was enjoyed all through the evening.

Miss Dickey was as lovely as a Dresden figure, her blonde hair tied with pink bows, and her lingerie frock over a pink slip.

Reception at Woman's Club.

The New Year's reception at the Atlanta Woman's club, which holds the afternoon of January 1 from 4 until 6 o'clock, will be a happy occasion, assembling the club women and their husbands. There will be music and refreshments.

Mrs. Oglesby assisted in the entertainment of the guests, and the occasion was one of the most charming of the season.

The decorations were artistic, consisting almost entirely of potted plants showing red and white blooms. In the entrance hall were palms and in the drawing room roses filled vases on the mantel. In the library were potted white azaleas, in the sun parlor poinsettia, while everywhere were the pretty Christmas wreaths. In the sun parlor punch was served, the table decorated in red flowers and knots of foliage green tulle.

In the dining room, where tempting refreshments were served, the decorations were in red roses. In the center of the table was an epergne filled with red roses and fern, and all the minor appointments were in red. On the buffet was a Christmas tree, sparkling with gew-gaws and shining with red waxen tapers.

Mrs. Sciple was the queenly hostess, her toilet a Frenchy combination of black and white. Mrs. Murphey wore a black embroidered crepe de chine and a corsage bouquet of violets.

At the conclusion of Mr. Wardwell's selections faint music was heard in the distance, gradually growing louder, which, upon investigation, proved to be the M. and M. quartet, serenading under the windows. Carrollton, Ga., December 30.—(Special)—Mrs. Minna Reese Adamson, wife of Congressman W. C. Adamson, of the fourth district, died this morning at the residence after several months' illness. The immediate cause of her death was uremic poisoning.

Mrs. Adamson had been in ill health for some years. Several months ago she underwent an operation in the hope of permanently getting better, but gained only temporary improvement. When congress convened she was so much strengthened that Mr. Adamson went on to attend to his duties, but was recalled about the middle of December, when she began to grow worse. He remained with her to the end.

Mrs. Adamson was Miss Minna Reese, daughter of Dr. Reese, a prominent educator. She was reared and lived in Carrollton, where she was loved for her beauty of character as well as for her excellence in matters of culture. She was a musician of ability.

Surviving are her husband and three sons, Charles A. Adamson, New Orleans, who is connected with the United Fruit company; Reese Adamson, Atlanta, of the Ford Motor company, and Ernie, who is reading law in Carrollton; two brothers, Erskine Reese, Decatur, and M. B. Reese, Heflin, Ala., and one sister, Mrs. A. R. Blander, Nashville, Tenn.

MERCHANTS OF ATLANTA ARE BUSY MAKING PREPARATIONS FOR THE BIG INFLUX OF BUSINESS THEY EXPECT AS RESULT OF INSTALLATION OF PARCELS POST SYSTEM TOMORROW

The most revolutionary change in the postal service since the inception of this important branch of the government was established will take place January 1, 1913, when the long-sought parcels post law becomes effective.

And the success of the service, according to the officials who will administer it, depends purely on the ninety millions of persons to whom it will be a privilege. It is solely an experiment so far, an extension of the fourth-class mailing privilege, and will not be perfected, will not be enlarged unless the patronage justifies this.

Therefore, no elaborate preparations for the opening of the service have been made at the local office. Regulations have been formulated, an insurance feature worked out, but no additional equipment has been supplied for the handling of the packages. The ordinary force, it is thought, will take care of the volume of business at first. If the bulk demands extension—for this class of mail will be given the same immediate transportation and security in handling as all other classes—men will be put on from the extra carrier's list, vehicles will be hired for delivery purposes, and automobiles will be used for collection.

More preparation, in fact, is to be seen in Atlanta mail order houses than in the postoffice, for it is these firms who are planning to profit by much of the money that has hitherto gone to Chicago, New York and St. Louis.

Letters Being Sent Out.

Letters have been sent out to patrons, which describe fully the value and possibilities of the new rates. Systems of "free delivery" are being worked out, and practically every firm is looking to a substantial enlargement of receipts from out of town because of the new post.

The public, on the other hand, has hailed the new rates as a direct blow at the high-cost-of-living. Not only will things ordered be cheaper, but the expense of transporting Christmas packages, to mention one benefit more than a year off, the receipt of things forgotten at home, the sending of bundles to college boys and girls, will be materially reduced, and their receipt will be wonderfully facilitated with Uncle Sam as the carrier.

No Special Delivery Stamps.

A special delivery stamp on a parcel sent through the mail under the parcel post law will not hurry its delivery in the least. Postmaster McKee, of Atlanta, received this information from Postmaster General Hitchcock on Monday.

Postmaster McKee and Superintendent of Delivery Hart had been under the impression that the usual ten-cent quick delivery stamp would expedite the transit of a package carrying the necessary parcel post stamps.

In his letters to Postmaster McKee and all other postmasters, Postmaster General Hitchcock said:

"On account of the increase in the weight and size of fourth-class matter to be accepted for mailing under the parcel post law the department has not considered it wise to arrange for special delivery service for this class of matter when the law goes into effect January 1, 1913. The advisability of providing special delivery for such mail can be more readily determined after the parcel post is in full operation."

C. O. D. Packages Are Barred.

The C. O. D. feature mentioned in section 5 of the parcel post laws will not be placed in effect until the department has opportunity to determine the best system after observing the operation of the service.

The changed paragraph of section 5 of the parcel post laws now says that a parcel can not be sent through the mail "collect on delivery," even though the requisite parcel stamps may be attached to the parcel. In other words, the postoffice department will not assume to collect the price of the parcel at the other end and return the money to the sender, as is done by express companies.

The parcel post stamps, a full supply of which will be placed on sale January 1 at the main postoffice and substations, have reached the city. The stamps are all of the same color, a bright red, and are all of the same size, measuring one by one and one-half inches. The stamps are issued from one cent to five cents, then ten cents, fifteen cents, twenty cents, twenty-five cents, fifty cents, seventy-five cents and one dollar.

There is also a parcel post due stamp.

"Our chief preparation for the new service has been the familiarization of every clerk with the new regulations," said Assistant Postmaster Cole in discussing what Wednesday may bring about.

"Accordingly, we expect no confusion or delay, and the public will get exactly the same service on this class of matter that they do on letters and papers.

"No new equipment has been put in. We do not expect this class or matter to show any enormous jump. If it grows, if the public appreciates and patronizes it, then the method of handling will be improved naturally and normally, both in delivery and collection of packages. Records will be kept for the first fifteen days to see about what the average volume of this mail will be.

Mus' Not Seal Packages.

"There are many details that the public should know, too, before they present matter for transfer by the parcels post. Ordinary stamps will not do, special stamps must be secured, and the name and address of sender must be on every package. When this rule is violated the matter will be held at the local office, according to the regulations of the department. Parcels post matter must also be subject to examination, not sealed; that is, when a package is sealed it becomes first-class, is subject to first-class charges and is unmailable over four pounds.

"We have sent out to every business house a blank form asking information of their mail order business, so that we might form some idea of what to prepare for. Some of these have been returned, others have not, and it has been impossible yet for us to estimate the volume. We expect to handle it all, however, and on schedule time."

The parcels post rate has been published several times before, but for the convenience of thousands of southerners The Constitution has again secured this table, from which may easily be estimated the cost of any package to any destination. It will be seen from the table that charge is made on a basis of weight and distance, the only class of mail where distance is figured. No package may weigh more than 11 pounds, or be greater than 72 inches in girth.

The registry feature of parcels post packages has been abolished by order of the department, and an insurance feature has been substituted. This gives an indemnity against loss up to $50 on payment of a 10-cent fee, to be affixed in parcels post stamps, not ordinary stamps, to the package, which must also be fully prepaid.

Unmailable Articles.

As to what's mailable and what isn't—well, that is too long for recountal here. Anything not mailable in the regular mail is, of course, excluded from the parcels post, such as explosives, whisky, poison, sharp instruments when improperly packed, obscene and scurrilous matter. What may be shipped is a still longer list, and includes everything, almost, from eggs to queen bees.

And back of all these lists still remain those provisions which the postal officials are trying so hard to impress on the public, that matter must be fully addressed, bearing name and address of sender also; must be fully prepaid, and must bear special stamps. All this, however, will again be told at the window to everybody doing any parcels posting.

Out in town, where the merchants are getting busy to utilize the parcels post, can be found many other suggestions of value.

And last of all—what is the parcels post going to mean to Atlanta?

Persons well informed believe that it will be of inestimable good to the city. They think that it is going to increase postal receipts; in fact, that it is going to give this index of progress a substantial boost.

It will materially strengthen the city in her mail order houses and manufactures. Much of the money hitherto poured into the laps of other sections will stay in Georgia. It is pointed out that the New York houses, which have a big patronage here, are one "zone" farther from Atlanta than Chicago or St. Louis—which do not draw so much patronage from the Gate City. The result is that this will itself discourage ordering from Gotham when the same articles can be purchased nearer home.

Merchants all over the city are making preparations, and it is safe to say that the first day's business will be a big one.

Explanatory Table of Postal Rates Based on Zone System Which Will Go Into Effect at All U. S. Postoffices

The parcel post law which becomes effective January 1, 1913, provides:

"That hereafter fourth-class mail matter shall embrace all other matter, including farm and factory products, not now embraced by law in either the first, second, or third class, not exceeding eleven pounds in weight, nor greater in size than seventy-two inches in length and girth combined, nor in form or kind likely to injure the person of any postal employee or damage the mail equipment or other mail matter and not of a character perishable within a period reasonably required for transportation and delivery."

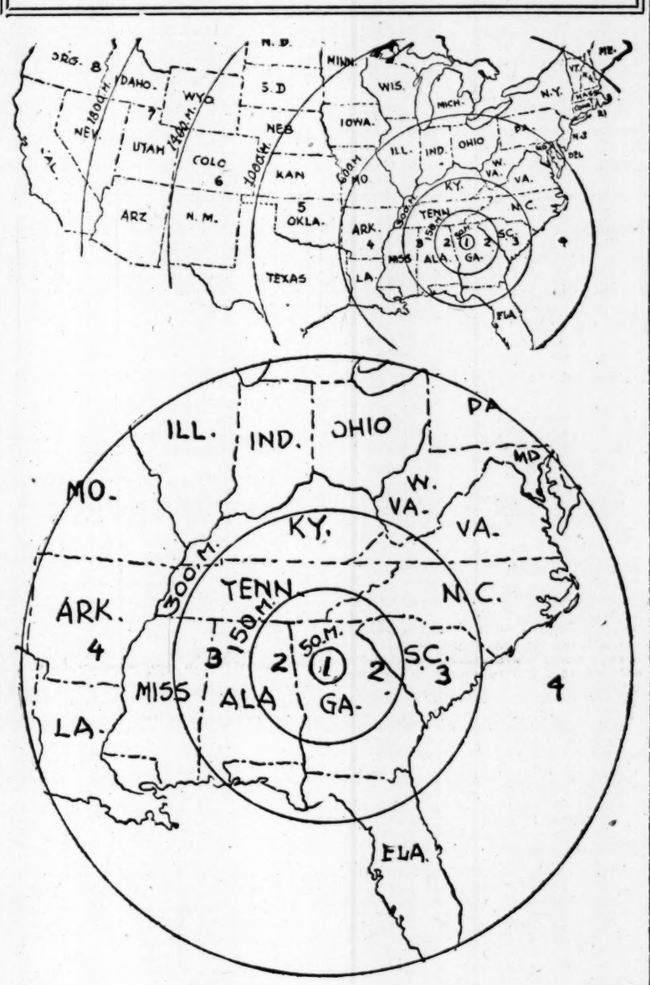

For the purpose of carrying this law into effect the United States is divided into zones with different rates of postage applicable to each, as follows:

Weight.	1st zone. Local rate	1st zone. Zone rate. 50 miles.	2d zone. 50 to 150 miles. Rate.	3d zone. 150 to 300 miles. Rate.	4th zone. 300 to 600 miles. Rate.	5th zone. 600 to 1,000 miles. Rate.	6th zone. 1,000 to 1,400 miles Rate.	7th zone. 1,400 to 1,800 miles. Rate.	8th zone. all over 1,800 miles Rate.
1 pound	$0.05	$0.05	$0.06	$0.07	$0.08	$0.09	$0.10	$0.11	$0.12
2 pounds	.06	.08	.10	.12	.14	.16	.19	.21	.24
3 pounds	.07	.11	.14	.17	.20	.23	.28	.31	.36
4 pounds	.08	.14	.18	.22	.26	.30	.37	.41	.48
5 pounds	.09	.17	.22	.27	.32	.37	.46	.51	.60
6 pounds	.10	.20	.26	.32	.38	.44	.55	.61	.72
7 pounds	.11	.23	.30	.37	.44	.51	.64	.71	.84
8 pounds	.12	.26	.34	.42	.50	.58	.73	.81	.96
9 pounds	.13	.29	.38	.47	.56	.65	.82	.91	1.08
10 pounds	.14	.32	.42	.52	.62	.72	.91	1.01	1.20
11 pounds	.15	.35	.46	.57	.68	.79	1.00	1.11	1.32

The local rate is applicable to parcels intended for delivery at the office of mailing or on a rural route starting therefrom.

It will be observed that the rates of postage are largely reduced, and that the limit of weight is increased from four to eleven pounds. Parcels will be delivered at all free-delivery offices and to patrons residing on rural and star routes; they may be accorded special delivery service on payment of the usual fees, and they may be insured against loss in an amount equivalent to their actual value, but not to exceed $25, upon payment of a fee of five cents. Distinctive stamps must be used on all parcels, but they may be mailed in quantities of not less than 2,000 identical pieces without stamps affixed, the postage being paid in money.

ZONES AS APPLIED TO ATLANTA

The upper map gives a practical illustration of the workings of the system for the entire country. It will be noticed that it will be cheaper to buy at Chicago than New York.

The lower map shows the section of territory to which the mail order houses of Atlanta will ship.

TREASURY METHODS RADICALLY CHANGED

Secretary MacVeagh Thinks Changes Will Lessen Interference With Country's Business.

Washington, December 30.—Secretary MacVeagh today ordered a revolutionary change in the business methods of the treasury department in handling the income and expenditures of the government, which is expected to lessen interference by the treasury with the fiscal operations of the country, make the government deposits in United States depositories more active and obviate the payment of exchange on government checks.

Effective February 1, accounts of the federal disbursing officers will be placed with the treasurer, and all disbursing officers' checks drawn on that official may be cashed by any national bank designated as a United States depository. Banks making such payments may immediately replenish the specified account from federal customs or internal revenue receipts daily deposited. The banks thus will forward to the subtreasuries only the excess of receipts over expenditures. If the expenditures are greater than the receipts, the subtreasuries will supply the deficiency.

In this manner, it is explained, much of the government's business will be transacted without the actual use of currency. It will be an extension of the clearing house principle to the government, and the banks will check expenditures against receipts and then make their settlements with the treasury.

All checks in payment of customs and in connection with revenue receipts which are turned into the subtreasuries, under the existing system, must be converted into actual money before they can be paid out on checks of disbursing officers. The new scheme will obviate this cumbersome method of withdrawing money only to pay it out into circulation again.

The change, it is said, will have the effect of distributing federal disbursements in an equitable manner all over the country. The new plan does not contemplate the increase of deposits in the banks.

Treasury officials regard the change as the greatest reform of Secretary MacVeagh's administration.

BOUNDARY LINE DISPUTE SETTLED

Obstacle to Continuing Crematory Work Removed by Agreement.

The dispute between the city and the Central of Georgia railroad involving the boundary line of the railroad right-of-way and the site upon which Atlanta's $376,800 crematory is to be erected will be settled at a small cost to the city.

C. F. Lawrence, chief engineer of the Central, came to Atlanta for a conference with Captain R. M. Clayton, city engineer, and City Attorney James L. Mayson. The plats of the right-of-way which the railroad acquired from the city, and of the crematory property, showed plainly that the city encroached on the right-of-way in making excavations for the crematory.

For a while it seemed as though the crematory work would be held up while the courts decided what line was correct.

Engineer Lawrence agreed that the city would not be interfered with if it kept off the railroad property. He departed for Savannah, after the conference.

PRIEST DEPOSED BY HIS BISHOP

Rector of Fashionable Episcopal Church in Philadelphia Out of the Ministry.

Philadelphia, December 30.—Rev. Dr. Alfred G. Mortimer, who suddenly resigned last week as rector of St. Mark's Protestant Episcopal church of this city, was deposed as a priest today by Bishop Rhinelander, after the receipt of a letter by the bishop from Dr. Mortimer, in which the latter renounced the ministry.

The unfrocking took place in the presence of two priests of the church, according to the canons of the denomination.

In making the announcement the bishop's secretary said:

"The matter is very serious and must be made known to the ministers and bishops of the church."

This was the only statement made regarding the offense.

Dr. Mortimer, who is 64 years of age, is staying with a brother in Jersey City. It is said he intends to sail for England shortly. He came to this city from England in 1887.

EVEN MONEY BETS ON HEAVIES MILL

Los Angeles, December 30.—Practically the entire reserved seat section at the Vernon arena has been sold out for the twenty-round fight on New Year's day between Al Palzer, the Iowa heavyweight, and Luther McCarty, the "cowboy pugilist."

McCarty was declared by his trainers to be "on edge" today, and he did only light gymnasium work. Palzer had a strenuous boxing session with his sparring partners.

Even money continues to prevail in betting circles.

FARRELL GOING TO SEE CHANCE

New York, December 30.—Unless in the meantime he should hear from Frank L. Chance, Frank Farrell, president of the New York American league club, probably will leave for California early next week to consult with the former manager of the Chicago Nationals on the subject of Chance coming here to take charge of the Highlanders.

Mr. Farrell said today he was greatly interested in Chance's letter of last week to Charles Williams, treasurer of the Chicago Nationals, in which he said he wanted enough money to make it worth while to come to New York and manage the local Americans.

Mr. Farrell added that he knew the New York public would be greatly disappointed if he failed to get Chance, and declared he would do everything within reason to put the Californian in line for the managerial berth here. He added that the time for dickering was nearly through, and he desired to know where he stood in the matter. If he could not get Chance he said it would not give him much time to hunt for another manager.

CUBS SURE TO TRAIN AT TAMPA IN 1913

Tampa, Fla., December 30.—Owner Charles W. Murphy, of the Chicago National baseball club, arrived this morning to look Tampa over, with a view of bringing the Cubs here for spring training. He is accompanied by Mrs. Murphy and Thomas J. Murphy.

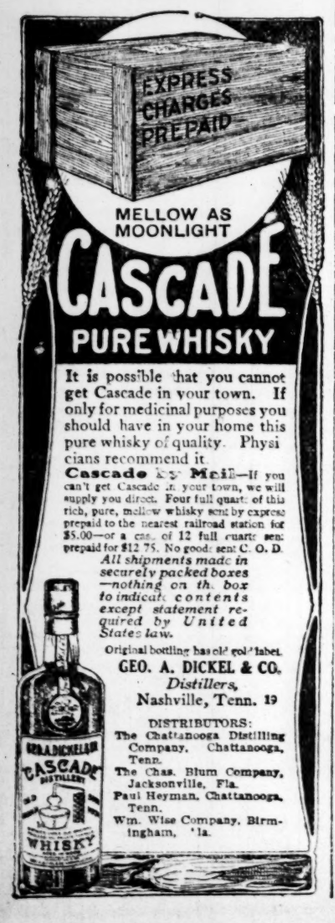

"Chubby Charlie" is in consultation with Mayor McKay this afternoon as to putting the city's athletic grounds in good shape and holding of a number of exhibition games there. Mr. Murphy found balmy breezes with a temperature of 69 at 8 a. m. and 74 at noon.

"It seems to me that this city would be an ideal place for my boys to train," he said with a smile. "I will make formal announcement soon."

Mr. Murphy announced the spring schedule of the Cubs as follows:

Jacksonville, South Atlantic league, March 19; Chattanooga, Southern league, March 20-21; Memphis, Southern league, March 22-23; Nashville, Southern league, March 24-25-26; Louisville, American association, March 27-28-29-30-31; Indianapolis, American association, April 3-4-5-6; Chicago university and Northwestern university at Chicago April 7 and 8.

The season opens for the Cubs at Chicago on April 9 with the St. Louis Cardinals. The games scheduled above are to be played on the return trip home.

Billy Will Mail Contracts; Four Players to Be Canned; Whitey Alperman Captain

Billy Smith will return to Atlanta next Monday and for a week he will be the busiest of moguls.

His first duty upon his return will be the mailing of contracts to his players and the releasing of four players whom he has in mind.

Pitchers, Sitton, Johns, Waldorf and Johnson are the four men who will get the can. Sitton and Johns will probably be placed with clubs in the new North Carolina state league as managers. Johnson will probably be returned to the Kitty league, from where he came, while Waldorf will be released outright if a place is not secured for him.

Whitey Alperman is to be named field captain of the 1913 Crackers. This has been a certainty practically ever since the close of the 1912 campaign when it was announced that Bill Smith would be manager of the Crackers this year.

The Alperman-Smith combination should prove a winning one. Bill and Whitey should work hand in hand with as much eclat as did the old Jordan-Smith combination.

Just when the Crackers will be ordered to report is a matter of conjecture and will depend wholly on the opening date of the season. But the chances are that when Bill mails out his contracts next week that he will then instruct his players as to reporting time.

Either the first or second Monday in March seems to be the logical time for the players to report, and this is about the time that Bill will name.

Here are the men that will be ordered to report here:

Pitchers—Brady, Becker, Price, Herring, Bausewein, Donnelly, Weaver, Hartner and Musser and Boehling (if the last named two are landed from Washington).

Catchers—McAllister, Graham, Reynolds and Malcolmson.

Infielders—Alperman, Agler, Smith, DeBard, Keating and Dohler.

Outfielders—Bailey, Callahan, Sisson, Nixon, Long (if he is landed from Washington) and Kirke (if he is landed from Boston).

This will make twenty-six men in all to report. As it is Billy's intention to carry sixteen men, if it can be done so comfortably with the salary limit, eight of the twenty-six players mentioned above will have to be released.

PERRY RETURNS; WILL BOX HERE

The sporting editor is in receipt of a letter from Jimmy Perry, the Pittsburg welterweight and a local favorite.

Jimmy has returned to his home in Pittsburg after a successful tour of Europe and announces that he is going to return to Atlanta about the middle of next month, hoping to get some bouts with any welterweight that the local club can secure for him.

CROCKER AND BECKER IN THE GOLF FINAL

Pinehurst, N. C., December 30.—Paul M. Hunter, Midlothian club, Chicago, was eliminated from the contest in the semi-final round of the ninth annual Pinehurst holiday week golf tournament today, when he missed a 2-yard put on the home green. George H. Crocker, Brookline, won from Hunter by a 4-yard put, and will meet C. L. Becker, Woodland, in the final tomorrow.

Crocker advanced today, on the default of Walter J. Travis, Garden City. Hunter won in the morning play from Robert Gould Shaw, Brookline, 2 up and 1 to play. Becker defeated W. E. GEORGIA BOYS PRESS CLAIMS OF UNIVERSITY

Athens, Ga., December 30.—(Special.)—The chairman of the recent mass meeting of the student body of the University of Georgia has issued a call to every student now at home for the holidays, asking them to see personally every representative and state senator to urge the law-makers to consider the needs of the university in the matter of a larger dormitory hall, a central steam heating plant and a laundry for the campus.

They are urged by the student chairman to keep up the work till every county representative and every senator has been seen by one of the Georgia boys conversant with the crowded condition of the school, of the need for dormitory room, of the lack of comfortable heating facilities and hot water in the dormitories and of the big number of applicants for places at the Denmark dining hall who cannot be accommodated.

MULE SHOT TO DEATH TO LOOSE HOLD ON MAN

Sumter, S. C., December 30.—Lincoln Taylor, a farm laborer in Sumter county, was bitten by a mule today, it being necessary to shoot the animal and pry open its jaws before the hold was broken.

Rushing madly upon Taylor, the mule seized his arm and, only after hours of strenuous effort, was the victim's release effected. The head of the animal will be examined for rabies.

BUCK WEAVER CHANGES TO LEFT-HANDED BATTER

Chicago, December 30.—"Buck" Weaver, the Chicago American league team's shortstop, while playing in the Pacific Coast winter league, has changed himself from a right to a left-hand batter. Weaver let Manager Callahan know today that he had accomplished the change, and figured that it increased his hitting value by at least 25 per cent. Weaver says it took him two months, giving all of his morning practice time to it. Bush of Detroit, Bescher of Cincinnati and "Germany" Schaefer of Washington have accomplished the same change as Weaver in past years, and each has become a stronger batter as a left-hander.

ATHLETIC CLUB PLAYS COLUMBUS

The Atlanta Athletic club will have its hardest game of the season next Saturday, when a trip is taken to Columbus for a game with the Young Men's Christian association team of that city.

Columbus possesses this year the strongest team in her history, and Atlanta basketball fans know just how strong such a team is. For years Columbus has always been regarded as the team that had to be beaten for any other team to claim the basketball title of the south.

This year it looks like Columbus ought to win the title easily, but until they have disposed of the Atlanta and Birmingham Athletic clubs their title will not be clean cut.

Columbus and Atlanta engage in two battles yearly—one in each city. After the game in Columbus Saturday night Atlanta fans will have a better line on what are the prospects of the club team for victory when the two mix up in Atlanta. It seems to be a foregone conclusion that Columbus will win the game on its own floor. They are well-nigh invincible there.

LOST BOY TAKES RIDE IN PATROL

The sight of a fair-haired boy of 4 years being bundled into a police patrol wagon by two sturdy blue coats at Broad and Alabama streets last night inspired a number of pedestrians, including several women, to beg the officers to let them adopt the child.

Notwithstandin the pleas, the tot was sent to police headquarters. As the patrol drew up to the prison door, the first person to greet the juvenile prisoner was his mother, Mrs. Arrowood, of Pryor street, who had hurried to police station to report the loss of her child.

Mrs. Arrowood and Willie went shopping late in the afternoon. While the mother was making some purchases the youngster strayed into the crowd of customers, and then into the street. He was wandering aimlessly across the viaduct when a woman passerby carried him to Policeman Born, standing at the corner of Broad and Alabama.

WATCH YOUR $5 BILLS; THEY MAY BE BOGUS

Washington, December 30.—Alarm seized officials of the United States treasury today upon the discovery of a remarkable counterfeit five-dollar silver certificate, the most dangerous imitation of American currency since the famous "Monroe head" one hundred dollar bill, which was suppressed in 1908.

So nearly perfect is this spurious note that officials of the cash room of the treasury declared it was genuine and unswervingly held to their belief that it was a washed note. Herman Moran, assistant chief of the United States secret service, detected slight variations from the original, however, and stamped it unqualifiedly as a counterfeit.

The counterfeit was discovered in New York city, where two specimens were obtained by the secret service. Treasury officials have undertaken to investigate the extent of its circulation, which as yet is unknown.

Widespread warnings to the public were issued today by W. J. Flynn, chief of the secret service. The imperfections of the note are apparent only to the eye of an expert with the aid of a glass. Apparently it is printed on two pieces of paper between which silk threads have been distributed. The number of the specimen which reached secret service men is E69421159.

THEATERS

"Everywoman."
(At the Atlanta.)

Seats are now selling at the Atlanta theater for the engagement of "Everywoman," which opens Thursday night and continues through Saturday with a matinee Saturday. "Everywoman" is the tremendous dramatic spectacle which Henry W. Savage considers the greatest offering of his career. This season a company of rare merit will appear at the Atlanta, as many as 150 people appearing in the production. This play was received with enthusiasm last season when presented by the No. 2 company. This year it is being played by the No. 1 organization, which is stronger than that seen last year.

"The Spring Maid."
(At the Atlanta.)

This afternoon a special matinee will be given at the Atlanta by the "Spring Maid" company. This matinee was arranged at the request of many local patrons of the theater, anxious to celebrate the passing of the old year with matinee parties. Mizzi Hajos and the prominent members of this cast come to Atlanta on a special train for this performance and many parties have been arranged to welcome the singers and dancers. The company will play tonight and tomorrow, giving a matinee and night performance both New Year's day. Tonight the Sigma Nu fraternity will occupy the lower floor with a special party.

Keith Vaudeville.
(At the Grand.)

With Jesse Lasky's musical act, "The Antique Girl," head-lining, the Grand is offering a bill of Keith vaudeville this week which will undoubtedly attract an attendance that will threaten, if not break, the records of the house.

The bill got away to a bad start Monday afternoon, when the train that brought the headliners from Kansas City was hours late, thus delaying the matinee, and forcing an impromptu performance of the musical company, but at night all the trouble was over, and the number was pronounced one of the best of the season.

Next to the headliners come the Venatian Four. These experts on stringed instruments hold the stage as long as they care to play. On Monday afternoon they were encored again and again, and it was only, when it became apparent that their repertoire was exhausted that the audience stoped clapping.

The thanks of the male portion of the audience are extended this week to Alf Grant. He has brought to Atlanta one of the best looking partners on the vaudeville stage today. Her name is Ethel Hoag. She hasn't much to do in the act, outside of acting as "feeder" to the man, and looking pretty. Both ways she is a success. "Feeder," by the way, is a term used to describe the man or woman who asks a question in order that his or her partner may make an answer that brings a laugh from the audience.

Gere and Delany open the bill in a very clever skating act. Muray and Lane appear in a sketch, written to give them singing oportunities. Their singing pleases.

The Four Florimonds, who do all sorts of "stunts" on ladders, caught the audience from the jump, and kept getting better. The act is great.

"Baby Mine."
(At the Lyric.)

"The funniest play in the English language." That is the characterization of "Baby Mine," on the program of the Lyric theater this week, placed there by the management, of course, for lucrative reasons. These purely personal reasons, however, do not alter the case one whit, for "Baby Mine" is in all probability one of the funniest plays that has been seen in Atlanta this season.

Not only is the play itself side-splitting, but it is played by a strong company, and is, moreover, a show that would fall most miserably flat without a company of real actors and actresses to produce it.

All the trouble comes about because Alfred Hardy wants a baby boy at his house, but Zoie, his wife, emphatically doesn't; and so they don't have a baby at all, and Alfred Hardy leaves home. But when Alfie has been away for three months Zoie begins to think maybe, after all, she could put up with a baby if it would bring Alfie back to her, for the days have been very lonesome without him. So she engages a baby boy from a children's home and telegraphs Alfie that the baby has "arrived." Does the news bring Alfie back to her? It does, in such a hurry that he arrives before the baby! Pale—from the judicious application of cold cream and white powder as entirely becomes a young mother—Zoie lies in bed and speaks to Alfie in a very weak voice; the little pink crib and all the "fixy" little baby things are there—but no "baby mine!"

Then is friend Jimmy Jincks—poor Jimmy!—he's always the goat!—called upon to produce the baby. By the time Jimmy has finished he has done the job so well that he has gathered not merely a baby, but triplets, under the paternal roof-tree of Alfie! The tangle is not straightened out until a policeman is dragged in by the enraged real parents, and Zoie promises to—well, she changes her mind.

Marjorie Courtland, as Zoie, in her uncomprehending and pretty feminine way, "welds," as Walter Jones, in the role of the unfortunate Jimmy Jincks, says, "an endless chain of trouble for him to place the links in," and he puts them in in a manner which will not let his audience stop laughing for a second.

The opening performance of "Baby Mine" was played to an S.-R.-O. house Monday night. It wil be seen at the Lyric for the remainder of the week.

NED M'INTOSH.

HE SEEMS INSANE BUT MUST SWING

Gallows Being Prepared in Arkansas for Man Apparently Violently Crazy.

Pine Bluff, Ark., December 30.—Notwithstanding that the man sentenced to be hanged has been removed from the county prison to a hospital apparently violently insane, the erection of the scaffold for the execution Friday of John McVay, a planter, was begun late today when word came from Washington that the United States supreme court had refused to issue a writ of error in his case, and in another dispatch Governor Donaghey was quoted as saying that he would not interfere.

Physicians who examined McVay are divided as to whether or not the man is feigning insanity. Before McVay was subdued and placed in a straight jacket he slightly wounded two of the guards at the county jail.

McVay was convicted of murder in connection with the killing of J. W. Ethridge, of Fall Back, Miss., who was shot to death in the courthouse here last November while his trial for the killing of McVay's brother was in progress.

TAFT IS TRYING TO LOSE AN HOUR

Charleston, S. C., December 30.—President Taft wants to lose an hour, and he has approached the Atlantic Coast Line officials to help him lose it.

Before the special train bearing him to Washington reached Ashley junction this afternoon, a telegram was received stating that the president had changed his mind as to the hour at which he wished to reach the national capital, and that he would prefer to arrive at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning rather than at 9, which was the hour originally fixed. It was accordingly decided that the president's special would have to lose an hour between this point and Washington.

The first fifteen minutes of the hour were successfully lost on the hundred-mile run to Florence. The president was playing bridge when his special reached Ashley junction at 6:12 o'clock, and the game was still in progress when Florence was reached, at 9:15. It was interrupted, however, when there were repeated calls for the president from the crowd outside and Mr. Taft came out on the rear platform and chatted with his callers. Colonel Goethals was introduced by Mr. Taft is the man who built the canal, and was given three hearty cheers. The special left Florence at 9:25.

President Taft expects to send to the senate the nomination of Colonel Goethals as civil governor of the Panama canal zone about February 1. The president has heard talk of opposition to Colonel Goethals, but he does not believe that the builder of the canal will be turned down by the senate because he is nominated for civil governor by a republican president. He expects to send the nomination in despite reports that it may be opposed.

LA FOLLETTE TO HELP WILSON AS PRESIDENT

Minneapolis, December 30.—Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, in an address here tonight before a church organization, referring to President-elect Wilson, declared that while he had not supported Mr. Wilson in his candidacy for the presidency, he would support him in the senate as long as Mr. Wilson advocated progressive legislation.

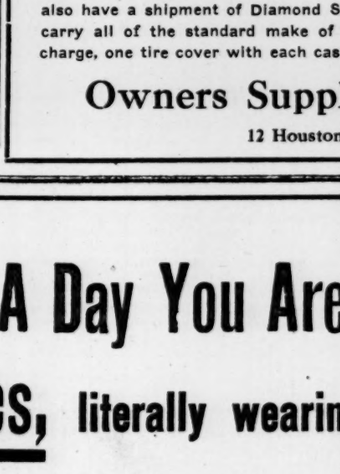

Senator La Follette declared that if then it was found necessary to curb "big business" it could be done by government control upon the physical valuation basis.

FRANK GOTCH'S BROTHER MEETS MYSTERIOUS DEATH

New Orleans, December 30.—Adolph Gotch, 27, brother of Frank Gotch, the champion heavyweight wrestler, met death in a peculiar manner in a rooming house in Dauphine street here late last night.

Shortly after Gotch had repaired to a bathroom in the house, groans were heard by other occupants to come from the room. Breaking open the door they found him stretched out on the floor in a dying condition. He expired before hastily summoned physicians arrived.

Coroner O'Hara declared that death was due to a broken neck, sustained in falling out of the bath tub. Gotch was employed here as a stationary engineer.

THERE ARE NO KINDS of flowers that are as easily grown or that give as much satisfaction as those grown from bulbs. We have a fine selection of the very best imported stock, guaranteed to bloom, and for the next few days we will sell them at greatly reduced prices. This is a good time to plant them. Do not fail to get some of them. SUFFRAGETTES WATCH FOR ARRIVAL OF SULZER

Albany, N. Y., December 30.—The failure of Governor-elect Sulzer to reach Albany today caused keen disappointment in the ranks of the suffragette "army," the members of which had walked from New York to deliver to him a message advocating woman's suffrage. However, outposts will be on the watch for him tomorrow and, immediately upon his arrival will seek a two minutes' audience for "General" Rosalie Gardiner Jones, who will present the communication.

All day today "army" pickets watched the railway station and the local hotel where Mr. Sulzer was expected to be a guest. The same tactics will be observed tomorrow.

An all-day rain prevented a series of outdoor meetings, but tonight the pilgrims held an indoor meeting at which arguments for "votes for women" were presented. A series of open-air meetings has been arranged for tomorrow.

Burt C. Livingston, Jr.

Death claimed Burt C. Livingston, Jr., 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Livingston, of Carey Station, at 11 o'clock Monday morning. The funeral will be held Tuesday. Interment will be in Hollywood cemetery.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL THE MARKETS

FIRMER CABLES SENT COTTON UP

Market Closed Steady After a Somewhat Irregular Tone Earlier in the Day.

New York, December 30.—While somewhat irregular, the cotton market showed a generally steady tone today, owing to firmer cables and buying from trade sources, combined with the prompt stopping of January notices. The close was steady and from 1 to 14 points net higher; generally 8 to 14 points above the final figures of last week.

The opening was steady at an advance of 7 to 10 points, in response to higher cables, and tht general list sold about 10 to 13 points net higher during the first few minutes of covering of shorts, and buyi of the near months by trade interests, who were said to be taking up January notices to the extent of about 20,000 bales. There was also a good d nand here from houses with Liverpool connections, and the market made quite a steady showing during the first hour. Afttr the close of the English market, the demand, which had been partly in the way of arbitrage business, became less active and prices eased off under Wall street pressure, moderate selling here, attributed to Memphis, and scattering liquidation.

Rumors that preliminary returns to a Memphis authority indicated a full ginning for the period ending tomorrow night, probably contributed to the decline, but while the spring and summer months eased of to about the closing figures of Saturday, December and January remained relatively firm. This checked offerings of the later months and the market firmed up again during the afternoon, with January selling 16 points above the closing of last night in the late trading.

It was rumored that one of the leading spot houses had stopped the bulk of notices issued today against January contracts and that their taking up of this cotton would place them in control of practically all the local stock.

Both local and southern spot brokers were buyers during the day, which was rumored to be partly against calling by spinners, but while many of the southern spot advices claimed that interior holders were very firm in their views, most of the reports indicated a slack demand for the time being.

Cotton spot closed steady; middling uplands, 13.20; do. gulf, 13.45; sales, 1,000 bales.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, December 30.—Spot cotton quiet, unchanged; middling, 12⅞; sales on the spot, 500 bales; to arrive, 500; low ordinary, 9½, nominal; ordinary, 10 5-16, nominal; good ordinary, 11 15-16; strict good ordinary, 12 3-16; low middling, 12 7-16; strict low middling, 12 11-16; middling, 12⅞; strict middling, 13 1-16; good middling, 13¼; strict good middling, 13 7-16; middling fair, 13⅞, nominal; middling fair to fair, 14¼, nominal; fair, 14⅝, nominal; receipts, 6,148; stock, 206,106.

Cotton futures opened steady at an advance of 4 to 6 points on good cables and a disposition on the part of prominent spot interests to buy. Offerings were not too plentiful, although professionals displayed a disposition to go short on the good weather map, much rain being shown over the cotton region. The market had little snap and the volume of business was not large. At the end of the first half hour of business prices were 6 to 9 points over Saturday's close.

Around the middle of the morning, short sales increased. They were based on reports from the cotton belt that the ground was soaked to a good depth by recent rains and that the moisture was being consumed by the moderately low temperatures prevailing. It was claimed in letters from the con[illegible] that, thus far, winter conditions have been strict[illegible] and that the plowing season will be [illegible] with the soil in the best shape possible. At noon, prices were 3 to 5 points under Saturday's last quotations.

In the afternoon, the market was dull but steady.

At 2 o'clock prices were 3 to 5 points over Saturday's closing level.

Cotton market closed steady at a net advance of 2 to 3 points.

National Banks' Condition.

Washington, December 30.—Reports from national banks to the comptroller of the currency in response to the call of November 26 reflect the tightness of money at that time, but show a marked growth of banking during the past year, according to treasury officials.

Many sections of the country reported decreases in cash and deposits as compared with conditions on September 4, the date of the previous call.

The aggregate loans, cash and deposits of all the national banks on November 26 were:

Loans, $6,058,982,029, a gain over September 4, 1912, of $18,140,758 and over December 5, 1911, of $399,872,202.

Cash—$859,098,737, a decrease since September 4 of $136,852,356 and since December 5, 1911, of $3,694,450.

Deposits—$5,944,061,069, a gain over September 4 of $52,891,962 and over December 5, 1911, of $408,578,788.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, December 28.—Liverpool advices were again good, spinners evidently calling cotton at the close of the year. After many fluctuations, due to bullish and bearish estimates of the national ginners, the market finally closed steady at 10 points higher than on Saturday. The tenders in January were taken up by the largest spot houses, putting the unprotected short interest in December and January under the necessity of bringing cotton here. This market for several months has been carrying the load of the Liverpool stock, in the shape of arbitrage sales, based on high freight rates and an expected low crop. It is the daily buying by arbitrage brokers that is the main support, taking the short setting and the long liquidation.

Liverpool is due to come about unchanged in the morning.

WHEAT ADVANCED ON FOREIGN NEWS

Russia Massing Troops on the Southwestern Frontier a Factor in Advance.

Chicago, December 30.—Statements that Russia had resumed the massing of troops on her southwestern frontier gave the wheat market today a brisk upturn. The close was nervous at figures varying from a shade decline to ½c net gain. Latest trading left corn 1-16 to ⅛@¼ up, oats ranging from Saturday night's level to ½c advance, and provisions irregular, stringing out from 5c down to an announced advance of 17½c.

As a result of the warlike advices about Russia and assertions that Roumania had again begun to mobilize, the resulting advance carried prices from the low point of the session to the top. Increased estimates of the Argentine export surplus had previously wiped out an early gain which the wheat market had scored in consequence of light world shipments. A bulge in the visible supply total also was tending to give the bears advantage until sentiment had a quick change on account of the war news. Moisture over the winter wheat belt prevented the July option from sharing in the general advance. May ranged from 91 to 91½@91 5-8, with last sales ¼c net higher at 91 3-8.

Wet weather put backbone into the corn market, despite of increasing stocks. May fluctuated between 47 7-8 and 48⅛, closing firm, a shade net higher, at 48⅛. Cash grades were steady. No. 2 yellow was quoted at 48½.

Oats gave evidence of congestion in the December delivery. Otherwise the market was governed by the course of other cereals. May touched as outside limits 32 5-8@32¾ and 32¾@32 7-8, with the close unchanged at 32¾.

In the provision trade it was generally believed that the packers were reselling for May. When the pit was cleared prices were 5@17½c net higher, except for nearby deliveries of lard, which were off 2½ to 5c.

SELLING STOCKS EARLY IN SESSION

Decline Was Halted and Prices Worked Upward—Selling Renewed.

New York, December 30.—Quotations of stocks turned downward rather sharply at times during the early trading today, on a continuance of the bear selling, which affected prices Saturday. Traders had few new developments to work on, and although they favored the short side of the market, the downward movement had little breadth.

Selling was concentrated largely on the three leading issues—Reading, Union Pacific and Steel—each of which was depressed a point, but losses among most of the other prominent stocks were confined to fractions. Before the end of the first hour, the decline was halted and prices gradually worked upward until shortly before the close, when the list eased off, in sympathy with a break in International Pump. Both the common and preferred fell 7 points.

There was some evidence of scattered liquidation among minor industrials and high-priced investment stocks. American Express sold down to 160, the lowest price for twelve years. Coppers were strengthened by the announcement of large sales of the metal; the principal selling agencies were said to have adhered to the price of 17¾, which has been quoted for some time. General Electric and Westinghouse were strong.

Despite expectations of tight money at the close of the year, call loans were easier than on Saturday. Call money opened at 6 per cent and although 7 per cent was quoted later, the rate fell of sharply before the end of the day. Renewals were made at 7 per cent, as compared with 12 per cent on Friday.

There was some breadth to the bond market. Total sales, par value, $1,173,000. United States 2s coupons advanced ¼ on call.

Coffee.

New York, December 30.—Coffee futures opened steady at a decline of 8 points on December, which was influenced by scattering liquidation, but generally unchanged to 9 points higher, on reports of steadier cost and freight offers, better European cables, covering by recent sellers and bullish advices from Santos and Hamburg. Later December was practically neglected, but the other months sold up another 4 or 5 points and, while realizing caused some irregularity, in the last hour, the close was steady with last prices 5 to 12 points net up. Sales, 137,750 bags.

Mild quiet; Cordova, 16@18.

Havre ¾ to 1 franc higher; Hamburg, ¼ to ½ pfennig up. Rio 125 reis lower at 7$900. Santos fours 100 reis lower at 7$700.

Brazilian port receipts, 30,000, against 17,000 last year.

Jundiahy receipts, 15,000, against 7,000 last year.

Today's Santos cable reported market quiet and unchanged.

Better Play Safe

A FEW days ago, the president of a local corporation accused the treasurer of alleged fraud in issuing a big block of stock to himself in order to obtain control of the company. This could not have happened if the stock had been registered by a responsible Trust Company, for which the charge would have been nominal.

Medium and light steers and good butcher cows and heifers were also in good demand and ruled steady. Plain cattle were hard to sell, although prices sagged in this class, buyers preferred the better kinds at corresponding higher prices.

Market generally is considered steady on the better weights and grades, quality and condition being most considered by the buyers. Medium and plain kinds are barely steady to a quarter lower than a week ago.

Hogs continue to come freely, although were short for a couple of days during Christmas week. Prices have ranged about steady to a shade higher. Demand good.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, December 30.—Favorable cables from Liverpool and liberal buying on the part of spot interests here brought about an advance of 10 points in the local market today. While there was some short covering evident for outside account, the principal demand came from the spot houses, the larger speculative shorts betraying no nervousness over their position at this time. The better volume of buying for trade account is attributed to the evening of spinners' commitments over the year-end. Wall street continued a steady seller and offerings from this source caused easiness in prices whenever spot interests withdrew their support.

MEDIATION ASKED TO STOP STRIKE

Walkout of Garment Workers in New York Has Resulted in Serious Situation.

New York, December 30.—Strong efforts were made today to bring to an end by mediation and arbitration the strike of workers in the men's clothing manufacturing trade, which began this morning with the refusal of operatives variously estimated to number from 50,000 to 150,000 to go to work because they desire higher pay and better working conditions from their employers, members of the New York Clothiers' association. The strike affects 4,000 shops in New York, Brooklyn, Newark and other places.

John J. Bealin, of the state board of mediation and arbitration, conferred with representatives of the Clothiers' association and of the United Male Garmen Workers of America, and will report to the board on the advisability of conducting an investigation of the conditions under which the garment makers work.

The International Peace Forum also resumed its efforts looking to mediation. It presented to both employers and operatives a plan for submitting to them a list of governers of ten states, ten educators, ten United States senators and ten clergymen from whom five or seven men shall be selected to hear arguments and submit findings which shall be binding to the manufacturers and their employees.

"The strike has assumed serious proportions," Mr. Bealin said, "and there is grave danger that it will spread to other cities."

Some of the strike leaders predicted that Rochester, Baltimore, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia and Utica concerns probably would be affected by the strike.

Strike leaders at a mass meeting of garment makers tonight refused to allow Dr. William Carter, general secretary of the International Peace Forum, to put before the assembled workers the society's arbitration plan. Dr. Carter was told it was "too early in the strike" to consider a mediation move.

It was announced officially at strike headquarters that the number of operatives out tonight is 73,000.

FIGHT IS BEGUN ON THE LEVEES

Property Owners Along the Mississippi Ask for Injunction.

Memphis, Tenn., December 30.—Suit to enjoin the Mississippi river commission and levee board of different states bordering on the Mississippi river from building and maintaining levees was filed in the local federal court today.

Simultaneously similar bills were entered in the federal courts at St. Louis; Helena, Ark.; Clarksdale, Miss., and New Orleans. The bill asks a process of court which, if granted, will do away with the river commission and various levee boards. It contends that the action of the river commission and the levee boards in maintaining a chain of levees along the river has raised its floodtide to such an extent as to prove destructive to property along the banks.

The suit is brought in the name of John F. Cubbins, representing the Riparian Land Owners' association, which controls 50,000 acres of land along the river in Tennessee, Arkansas and Mississippi.

It is contended that the action of the river commission and the levee boards is unconstitutional, inasmuch as it constitutes the wilful destruction of private property without due process of law and that the levee boards of the states are all unable to pay any damages that have or may again result from floods.

PREACHERS HISS MAYOR HARRISON

For Refusing to Hear Protest Against Lengthening New Year Hours for Cafes.

Chicago, December 30.—One hundred or more preachers and their adherents marched to the city hall today to protest to Mayor Harison against permitting cafes to remain open beyond legal hours on New Year's eve.

They marched through the streets from the First Methodist church to the municipal building and crowded into the ante-chamber of the mayor's office.

Here the mayor's private secretary explained that Mr. Harrison was not "receiving" today.

At this there was hissing and cries of "Harison, Harrison," but Arthur Burrage Farwell, president of the Chicago Law and Order league, called for silence.

"We represent law and order," he cried. "If the mayor does not care to receive us there will be no disturbance."

Farwell was informed that Chief of Police McWeeny was "at home," and the procession moved in that direction.

McWeeny has announced that the cafes may remain open until 3 a. m. New Year's. The ordinary closing time is 1 a. m., and the Law and Order league is protesting the chief's order.

Chief McWeeny heard the demands of the ministers and promised he "would take the matter under advisement."

After the marchers had left the city hall, Jenkin Lloyd Jones was appointed to see the mayor and determine if his refusal to see the ministers was final. According to Charles Fitzmorris, the mayor's secretary, it is not the custom to receive on Monday. Some of the ministers thought the mayor might yet see them before New Year's day.

A committee was appointed to employ counsel, take the enforcement of the closing ordinance in their own hands, and, if necessary, to start impeachment proceedings against the mayor and the chief of police.

GEORGIA TO STAR AT INAUGURATION

Militiamen of State Will Make Fine Showing in Washington.

Judging from the tentative plans of the Georgia National Guard, the state of Georgia will make a fine military showing at the inauguration of President-elect Wilson in Washington next March.

Adjutant General William G. Obear has received a letter from Brigadier General A. L. Miles, who was recently appointed to act as grand marshal of President-elect Wilson's inaugural parade, asking him to notify him at the earliest possible moment how many Georgia troops he may expect for the inauguration.

Plans are being made in Atlanta to send the entire Fifth regiment. The big tournament which the Fifth will hold next month will be for the purpose of raising money to defray the expense of the trip, and the soldier boys do not anticipate any trouble in getting funds enough to send the best delegation in the state.

News dispatches from Macon indicate that all the companies of the Second Georgia regiment are planning to attend the inauguration, and that, in addition, the Macon drug and bugle corps expects to go as the official musicians of the Georgia National Guard. Augusta has come to no definite decision, but will probably send two companies. Just what plans Savannah has for her eleven companies, including infantry, coast artillery and cavalry, are unknown, but the office of the adjutant general has been notified that Savannah will also send a delegation.

The state military department will ask that reports be made at once as to the number of troops which will make the trip. Every effort will be made to see that Georgia is well represented.

CHECK IS GIVEN MONEY PROBERS

President Taft Declines to Aid in Securing Needed Data.

Washington, December 30.—President Taft has declined to instruct the comptroller of the currency to make an investigation to procure for the house money trust investigating committee facts not now in the comptroller's possession. Guided by an opinion by Attorney General Wickersham, the president has advised the committee that he does not think it proper to obtain the data in this manner.

Attorney General Wickersham today made public the text of his opinion, because, he said, "of the confused and erroneous statements" which have appeared during the last few days regarding its purport.

One important feature of the attorney general's opinion is the statement that no legal effect is attached to the directions contained in the house money trust resolution calling upon the comptroller of the currency, secretary of the treasury and other officials to comply with all instructions of the committee for assistance in its labor.

"The duties of the comptroller are imposed by law," said the opinion, "and cannot be lessend or increased by resolution of the house."

The attorney general's opinion holds the president has the lawful power to direct the comptroller to supply the committee with information already in his possession. The president on the other hand can refuse to divulge this information if he thinks the interests of the government require it be kept confidential, says the attorney general.

Most of the information sought by the committee is not now in possession of the comptroller and the attorney general holds that the comptroller has no right to exercise his power in procuring data merely for the purpose of furnishing it to a committee of one house of congress.

NEW YEAR GREETINGS SENT BY CARNEGIE

New York, December 30.—Under the title, "The World's Unsolved Enigma," in which he declares that the ruler of every country knows that the greatest blessing for the world at large is international peace, Andrew Carnegie today sent to his friends his greetings for the New Year. In conclusion, the greetings read:

"International peace is not a party question in the republic. Democratic presidents and statesmen equally with republicans are its zealous champions. I venture the prediction that negotiations will soon be resumed under the most favorable conditions between Britain, France and America, Germany gladly co-operating as before.

"In such holy cause there can be no such word as fail. Sooner or later the killing of men in battle is to be banished from civilized lands."

ROBBERS MAKE RAIDS ON DENTISTS OF ROME

Rome, Ga., December 30.—(Special.) Coincident with dental robberies in Atlanta Saturday night, the offices of three Rome dentists were entered and several hundred dollars' worth of leaf gold stolen. Three years ago, when the Atlanta offices were burglarized, there were simultaneous robberies in Rome. Local police believe that the same men committed the recent crimes and those of three years ago. There is no clue to the Rome thefts.

FENDERS ON CARS URGED BY TURNER

The City Electrician Asks Council to Give Him Inspection Power.

The tragic death of little Theo Hoffman, 5 years old, beneath the wheels of a street car, has caused City Electrician R. C. Turner to ask council to give him authority to inspect street car equipment and enforce the law which requires the railways company to put fenders on all cars.

The city electrician believes that if a rigid inspection is made the Georgia Railway and Power company would soon be forced to properly equip its system, and that the accident rate would be cut down to a minimum.

Turner says he incorporated the recommendation in his report because he believes it is necessary that the city take some steps to safeguard the lives of pedestrians.

No Moving Picture Fires.

The report contains a number of urgent recommendations, and calls attention to the fact that Atlanta has been remarkably free from picture show and theater fires and hotel calamities during the year. The report attributes this to the dilligence of the electrical department in the inspection of all public places.

The city electrician recommends extension of the white way system to the Auditorium.

Placing white way posts 90 feet apart.

Removing white way posts on Whitehall and Peachtree streets.

Installing a bracket system of white way lighting in the congested thoroughfares.

Additional money for an inspector to take care of electrical installations.

Increase in Wiring.

The report says that only 15 per cent of Atlanta's homes were equipped with electric wiring ten years ago, and in 1912 the increase was 97 per cent.

The reduced price of electricity, $1 per month minimum and 7 cents current for residences and small consumers, effective January 1, 1913, will result, according to the report, in the almost universal use of electricity for illumination.

In anticipation of the reduced rate, the people of Atlanta have installed 25 per cent more electric lights and fittings during 1912 as compared with the year 1911.

The street lighting equipment of the city has advanced from 1,508 arc lights, 905 series lights and 309 white way posts in January, 1912, to 1,605 arc lights, 960 series lights and 335 white way posts in December, 1912.

"SLEUTHS COULD NOT FIND RED-HOT WIRE"

J. I. Mellichamp Hands Out Red-Hot Roast to the Detective Department.

"The entire Atlanta detective department could not find a red-hot wire running through a haystack on a dark night and leaving a blazing trail to the heavens," says J. I. Mellichamp, a jeweler in the Atlanta National Bank building, where thieves robbed dental offices of about $750 worth of gold and platinum work Saturday night.

Mr. Mellichamp, whose own office was untouched, takes occasion to hand out a red-hot roast to the department for what he terms its "general inefficiency and laziness":

"As stated in the Monday morning Constitution, there was a similar robbery here about three years ago, which has never been investigated, just like hundreds of other comedies and tragedies that have taken place in Atlanta which, under the rule of Newport Lanford and his glorious crowd, have never been brought to light.

Good at Smoking Pipes.

"All this so-called detective department is good for is to arrest some negro who has stolen a few trifling things, and it is a shame that we taxpayers of Atlanta have to pay the salaries of a bunch of men whom you can always find sitting around their office doing nothing more tedious than smoking a pipe.

"The detective department was notified of this robbery Sunday, soon after the thefts were discovered, and two officers came down from headquarters. I think their names are Harper and Black. In the presence of myself and four other jewelers in this building and Mr. Bailey, the superintendent, these men requested that Mr. Bailey have the various dentists make an inventory of their losses and report them to headquarters. In the most nonchalant and inefficient way you can imagine, they then stated that they would be down again at 10 o'clock Monday morning, when they would investigate the affair.

"My stock is secured," added Mr. Mellichamp, "as I am a member of the Jewelers' Security alliance, with signs on the door and on the wall inside advertising that fact, and I know something about the way in which a reputable detective would act on making an investigation of a theft.

Would Have Made Investigation.

"Members of the Pinkerton department employed by this alliance would not have waited until next day to make an investigation, but would have at once looked carefully over the rooms to ascertain by some clew or other whether or not the work was that of a novice or an old stager, and would have sought for some tracks which even the most careful criminals are sure to leave.

"These so-called city representatives never even asked admission to the offices robbed, or made any definite step to ascertain the conditions therein.

"To my way of thinking, a real detective would have assumed the initiative and would have entered and examined each office carefully, and would have learned something of the methods by which the thieves secured the gold and platinum.

"Instead, these men, paid as professional detectives by the people of Atlanta, simply took as facts a few statements made to them in the lobby of the building, and walked away as nonchalantly as they had entered."

O'Keefe Breaks His Hand; Tommy Lavelle May G[et] Crack at Frank Whitn[ey]

The Tommy-O'Keefe-Frank Whitney battle scheduled to take place at the Dixie Athletic club New Year's night is off.

The local promoters received a telegram Monday morning from Johnny Loftus, manager of O'Keefe, advising them that O'Keefe had broken his hand and was unable to come here. O'Keefe was wild to appear here, too, the club having accepted his own terms, this time to get him here for the bout with Whitney.

The club is up in the air for an opponent for Whitney, now that O'Keefe cannot come. Here is their chance to make a hit and at the same time give the fans just as good a card as the O'Keefe-Whitney mill would be.

RAIN RECORD OF 1888 CAME VERY NEAR BEING EQUA[L]

With no rain predicted for today or tonight, the dying year stands within ninety one-hundredths inches of equaling the maximum rainfall for a year which was recorded in 1888. With the rain of Monday morning 64.08 inches were totaled for 1912, and twenty-four years ago the record, which has never been broken, was made at 64.98 inches.

To get so close to a chance to break the local rainfall record for the history of the weather bureau an quite reach the mark is not givin weather man any heartaches, howe as he contents himself with know that this year has gone far ahead the normal, which is 49 inches for a year.

Ben Lee Crew Entertains at University Club in Honor of Employees.

About twenty men, representing the selling force of Phillips & Crew company, gathered in Atlanta for their yearly conference, were given a delightful banquet last night at the University club. Ben Lee Crew, vice president of the company, presided, and the reunion of the force was thoroughly enjoyed. The banquet lasted from 7 o'clock until after 11.

This piano company, which is purely an Atlanta concern, has been in business here since July, 1865. During that time it has grown from a very small store until today its capital and surplus amout to $150,000, and it is regarded as one of the representative houses of the south.

Branch stores have been established in Savannah and Macon, and the representatives of these branches were present and will meet again today. They are: John S. Banks, of Savannah, and Robert Smith of Macon. At the conference on Monday the talk turned to the policy of the firm and the points of honesty and fair dealing, as being the basis of its success were discussed by various representatives.

There are a number of interesting things about the Atlanta concern. It is the oldest firm in Atlanta that has existed since its establishment without a change of firm name. It has been selling Knabe pianos for forty-one years, and is the oldest concern on the books of the William Knabe company that has kept a continuous account running with the firm. It also advertised in Volume 1, Number 1 of The Constitution, and has kept that up since then.

The officers of the firm are: B. B. Crew, president and original member of the firm; Ben Lee Crew, vice president; R. B. Toy, secretary, and H. T. Phillips, treasurer.

MOORE INDORSED FOR SEC'Y OF AGRICULTURE

The movement to indorse Chief Willis L. Moore, of the United States weather bureau, for secretary of agriculture under Woodrow Wilson, has taken hold in forty-two out of the forty-eight states of the union, where various trade organizations, commercial bodies and newspapers and individuals have signed petitions asking his appointment to the cabinet.

In Atlanta The Journal of Labor, the Atlanta Federation of Labor, the Atlanta Typographical union, No. 48, have given him indorsement, and in all of the forty-two states where the movement has been started union labor is represented among his supporters. Professor Moore was at one time a union printer, and still holds an honorary membership in the Washington, D. C., local. His efforts in favor of the eight-hour law and his work for the labor conditions fostered by the unions has given him a strong place in the affections of all labor men.

A list shown in Atlanta yesterday of the various bodies indorsing him covers several typewritten pages, and includes all classes of business. Professor Moore was appointed to his present position by President Cleveland, and has been one of the few democrats high in the ranks of government service during the years of republican control.

DISPENSARY SCANDAL GOES TO HIGH COURT

Washington, December 30.—Steps were taken today to have the supreme court of the United States pass on one of the phases of alleged scandal connected with the conduct of the South Carolina state dispensary.

An appeal was filed from the action of the South Carolina supreme court in enjoining the Carolina Glass company from attempting to collect from the state $23,000, alleged to be due it for bottles and demijohns furnished the state dispensary. The state supreme court upheld the findings of the state dispensary commission that the glass company was paid $51,000 for bottles in excess of the fair market price, and therefore instead of the state owing the company $23,000 the company owed the state $28,000.

WREN TO APPEAR IN COURT TODAY

Lawyer Declares He Will Return From Birmingham.

Judge Price Edwards, of the Tallapoosa circuit of the superior court, who recently presided on the Atlanta bench, will return today to hear motions for new trials made by attorneys for George Wren, convicted of complicity in the $50,000 diamond robbery, and Colonel William S. Huff, the former legislator, convicted of misusing funds of which he was appointed receiver by the court.

Wren could not be located in Atlanta last night, but Judge George F. Gober, of Gober & Jackson, his attorneys, stated positively that he would appear when his case is called today. Wren was sentenced to a year in the chaingang and released on a $5,000 supersedeas bond, which was not ordered by the judge, as required by law. The fact that he had been released on a bond approved by a deputy in the office of the clerk of the court caused a stir in courthouse circles and led to the solicitor general ordering his rearrest. This was not done, as the sheriff stated that an order from the judge would be necessary for him to send for Wren, who has been in Birmingham since his release.

Judge Gober stated that if Wren is refused a new trial by Judge Edwards today that the case would be caried at once to the court of appeals.

Colonel Huff has been in the Tower since his conviction and sentence to a year in jail. He made no attempt to make bond. His attorney is William M. Smith.

TEXAS AND UNCLE SAM CLASH OVER SOLDIERS

Washington, December 30.—Secretary of War Stimson has reconsidered his decision to deliver up to the state of Texas for trial the six soldiers of the Fourteenth cavalry, stationed at Fort Clarke, Texas, accused of killing one Mexican and seriously wounding two others in a dance hall near the post November 9 last. The question of jurisdiction will now be decided by the United States supreme court.

Colonel S. W. Sibley, the commandant at the post, refused to surrender the men to the state courts on the ground that the military and civil tribunals had concurrent jurisdiction and, because the accused already were being tried by court-martial, they could not be surrendered until the military process was completed. The state authorities applied to the supreme court for a writ of mandamus and the case is expected to come up January 6.

It is said there never has been an opinion by the supreme court that would finally determine the jurisdiction of the civil and military courts in such cases. Therefore, although the war department had decided to surrender the prisoners to the Texas authorities, it now has determined to bring the matter to an issue in court.

RED "PRINCE OF WALES" APPEALS TO CONGRESS

Seattle, Wash., December 30.—The "Prince of Wales," present chief of the Clallam tribe of Indians, who have been homeless and landless since 1855, left here yesterday for Washington, D. C., to present to congress and the interior department the Indians' petition for redress of alleged grievances which they have endured nearly sixty years.

In 1855 a treaty between the Indians and the government was ratified under the terms of which the Indians were to surrender their hereditary lands lying between Cape Flattery and Hood canal, 2,848 acres. When they arrived at their new hunting ground the Indians found it had been given to another tribe. Repeated appeals have failed to procure the return of their old homes, or the assignment of new lands, it is alleged.
